GENERAL ARRESTED IN ROUND-UP IN FRANCE

Mobs of Starving Refugees Storm Shanghai Shops

International Settlement Officials Grapple With Growing Problem

Warplanes Busy On Nanking Front

SHANGHAI (AP)—Mobs of hungry, war-stricken Chinese stormed Shanghai rice shops Thursday in an effort to buy or beg something to eat.

The Shanghai Volunteer Corps guarded docks with fixed bayonets when a British steamship unloaded a cargo of rice at the Bund. Other guards protected rice-laden trucks from attacks by starving refugees.

With the advent of cold weather 2,000,000 Chinese refugees suffered acutely. They presented a tragic picture—roaming the streets by day and sleeping on pavements at night.

International Settlement officials said political problems resulting from Japanese occupation of the city were minor compared with the task of furnishing food for Shanghai's swollen population.

On the war front to the west, Chinese reinforcements rushed forward to meet a threatened grand offensive aimed at Nanking, 100 miles away.

ONLY THREE DAYS' FOOD

With the coast blockaded by Nippon's warships, railroads and canals to the interior damaged by repeated bombardment, and 1,500 square miles of rich Kiangsu province occupied by Japanese, only scanty food supplies trickled into this city of more than 3,000,000.

Municipal officials taking stock of the situation found but three days' food on hand. Prices of staples mounted rapidly. Chinese farmers in Japanese-occupied areas were unable to bring their products to market. Acres of fertile land surrounding Shanghai had been abandoned or war-torn.

Windsors Attend Paris Service

PARIS (CP-Havas)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor today attended Thanksgiving Day services at the American church here. The Duke and his American-born wife sat with United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt in the latter's special pew.

The Duke and Duchess were invited to the service by Rev. Clayton Williams. He told them it would be particularly appropriate for them to attend since "the first Americans to celebrate Thanksgiving were English."

Lone Robber Holds Up Sudbury Bank

Man Escapes With Over $1,000 After Surprising Teller

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Sudbury's first bank holdup was conducted quietly and efficiently today by a man who walked out of the downtown branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale with more than $1,000 after threatening the teller.

Wearing a mackinaw coat and bushman's clothes, the armed robber passed a note into the teller's cage which read: "You are covered. Put the money on the counter." He pointed a revolver at the teller, Adrian Mettew, saying: "Give me the tens and twenties or I'll shoot to kill."

When Mettew handed over a bundle of bills, the robber stuffed them in his pockets, walked quickly from the bank and was

Christmas Rush Conditions Set

Government Limits Working Hours For Store Employees

Work hours and minimum wages for store employees during the Christmas shopping rush were fixed today by the British Columbia Board of Industrial Relations and announced by Adam Bell, chairman.

Store employees may work 10 hours on Saturday, December 18, but not more than 48 in that week. On December 23 and 24 they may work up to 10 hours.

In Vancouver, Mr. Bell was advised, the three large department stores plan to close at 6 every night before Christmas.

In the shipping, mail order and delivery branches, employees may work overtime during December as the need arises, but not more than 48 hours a week or 10 hours a day.

For temporary women employees during December, a minimum wage of $12.75 a week is set if they work 40 hours or more. When working less than 40 hours they must get 35 cents an hour.

Male employees must get $15 a week if working 37½ hours or more and 40 cents an hour if less. A special scale is provided for men under 21.

Monday, December 27, has been declared an official holiday under the Weekly Half Holiday Act which means that employees will have Saturday, Sunday and Monday off, the Christmas week-end, but they will work on the Wednesday afternoons before and after Christmas.

Baden-Powell On Lengthy Tour

LONDON (AP)—Lord Baden-Powell, 81-year-old Chief Scout of the world Boy Scout movement, left today for a tour of Rhodesia, South Africa, despite the protests of friends that the journey might tax his strength.

"They tell me," he said, "it is either going to kill or cure me. I don't mind which it is, so long as I can carry through my work."

Runaway Hill

Another crack was opening up in a paved road through Los Angeles' Elysian Park when this picture was taken. For days people have been watching as parts of a 2,000,000-ton hillside gradually slid down. The earth and stones, moving about an inch a day, crushed a big water main. Efforts were made to ease the threat to a nearby railroad yard, not far from the business section. Old settlers express the opinion it is all caused by caving-in of ancient Spanish treasure tunnels.

"HOLY WAR" ON BRITAIN URGED

Japanese Nationalist Paper Wants Influence in Asia Crushed

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—The Kokumin Shimbun, nationalist paper, today demanded a "holy war" against Great Britain.

"The Sino-Japanese conflict must end in the crushing of British influence not only in China but in all Asia," the paper said. The Asahi Shimbun wrote: "We are following the example of Italy, which annexed Ethiopia. We are imitating the courage of the Fascists. Japanese blood that is flowing thickly is giving us rights which no one will dispute."

A declaration of war against China was again recommended by the Hocht in order to facilitate establishment of an effective blockade, especially of the south China coast, including Hongkong.

British toleration of arms shipments through Hongkong was destined for the Chinese forces "is not a very friendly act," in the opinion of a Foreign Office spokesman.

Affirms Loyalty

Gen. Maxime Weygand, above, who today stoutly denied he was involved in the plot of the Cagoulard secret society for an uprising in France, gained fame as a strategist while Marshal Foch's chief of staff in the Great War. He served as High Commissioner in Syria in 1923-24. He was chief of staff of the army of France from 1931 to 1935. He was born in Brussels, Belgium, January 21, 1867.

THANKSGIVING DAY IN THE U.S.

People of Republic Join in Events Marking Annual Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States laid aside its business, political and economic cares today and sent up prayers of thanksgiving for the fruits of another year's toil.

Stores, offices, schools and factories were closed as millions sat down to steaming tables, in mansions, cottages and rooming houses, to observe the annual feast of the Pilgrim Fathers.

Travel was heavy throughout the country as celebrants hurried homeward for family reunions. Churches of all denominations held special services and the religious responded to President Roosevelt's call to "humbly acknowledge the mercy of God, from Whom comes every good and perfect gift."

Turkey as usual was the piece de resistance of the day and at the White House it was served with chestnut dressing.

Raid On Paper's Office Protested

Editor of Toronto Clarion Says Government in Quebec Exceeding Rights

TORONTO (CP)—Thomas C. Sims, editor-in-chief of The Toronto Daily Clarion, commenting on a police raid on the newspaper's office in Montreal, said he believed Premier Duplessis and other Quebec government authorities "are far exceeding their legal rights."

The Clarion in its columns has supported the Communist Party. The raid Wednesday evening was made under authority of the Quebec "padlock" law, aimed at stamping out Communist propaganda. Seven hundred copies of the paper were seized by police.

Sims said The Clarion is a registered newspaper, established 15 years, and is conducting its business in accordance with the laws of Canada. "There is nothing un-Canadian, illegal or undemocratic" in the publication, he said.

The editor said he did not know where the last edition of Clarion (French weekly whose office in Montreal was padlocked a fortnight ago) was published, but it (Turn to Page 2, Col. 8)

Coal and Oil Bill In House Soon

New B.C. Measure Expected to Follow Nova Scotia Plan

The provincial government's new coal and petroleum control board bill will reach the House next week, Premier Pattullo indicated today.

Contents of the bill, announced by the Premier in his speech to the Legislature last night, were a closely guarded secret in government circles today.

Well-informed sources suggested, however, that the measure would follow closely along the lines of Nova Scotia legislation but without price-fixing or similar provisions. It is generally expected that the coal and petroleum board will be appointed within the civil service.

Pattullo Announces New Coal and Petroleum Control Board in Legislature

New Forest And Labor Policies

British Columbia is to have a Coal and Petroleum Control Board, a new forestry policy for logged-over lands, and a new labor policy seeking to avoid strikes.

These were the three major announcements in Premier T. D. Pattullo's speech closing the budget debate in the Legislature last night, in which he analyzed the growth of debt in the course of the province's development, reviewed his government's accomplishments of the last four years and traced a broad 26-point programme of expansion for the future.

The Premier said legislation for the coal and petroleum board would be submitted shortly to the House. It would be set up with powers designated, so that it could deal with the coal and gas price problem as outlined by the Macdonald commission when the commission's report has been completely digested and analyzed.

The Premier did not enlarge on the forestry proposals, but said they would include examination of logged areas on Vancouver Island to determine which are best for agriculture and which for reforestation.

He described the labor policy as designed to provide better means of adjusting differences between employers and employees so that there need not be any resort to strikes.

The Premier spoke for 90 minutes. After a masterly delivery (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

French Embassy In Rome Guarded

ROME (AP)—An extra, precautionary police guard was stationed about the French embassy here tonight as a result of published reports the French naval minister had forecast inevitable war between France and Italy.

Cesar Campinchi, French minister, was quoted in the Rome press as saying at Toulon November 23: "Why hide it? War with Italy not only is destined; it is necessary. . . . We will have the Fascist hide."

Pattullo Plan Is Looked Over

Ottawa Interested in Comprehensive Programme Announced By Premier

OTTAWA — Premier Pattullo's programme of extension and development of British Columbia, outlined in his budget debate address in the Legislature last night, included several projects which will figure in submissions to the Rowell Commission on Dominion-provincial Relations, and others that will be subject of early consideration in various quarters.

Widening of British Columbia's boundaries to include the Yukon Territory has been under consideration for some time with Mines Minister Crerar acting for the Dominion in the negotiations. He was in Winnipeg today, but it was stated here this matter would come before the commission.

Status of British Columbia as a member of the Confederation will also be a matter for consideration by the commission, to which the province will doubtless submit complaints of any lack of parity the government believes to exist.

Improvement of the financial position of municipalities and matters dealing with labor and health conditions will also be matters upon which the commission might expect to hear evidence, particularly since administration (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Eleven and Plane Missing In Ontario

Machine Failed to Reach Sioux Lookout From Pickle Lake

HUDSON, Ont. (CP)—Pilot Ken Smith of Starratt Airways and nine passengers are reported missing in a plane which left Pickle Lake Wednesday en route to Sioux Lookout.

Smith was assisted on the flight by Keith Gregson, mechanic of Starratt Airways with headquarters at Hudson, 240 miles east of Winnipeg. With the nine passengers they left Pickle Lake at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon on the 120-mile hop to Sioux Lookout.

Pickle Lake is 120 miles north-east of Hudson, and Sioux Lookout is only 18 miles east of Hudson. It is believed the plane is down in the wild country between Pickle Lake and its intended destination.

Company officials expressed belief the plane might have come down at Root Portage because of fog. Root Portage is 85 miles north of Hudson.

Fog prevented planes leaving Hudson in search of the missing persons. Names of those aboard the plane besides the pilot and mechanic were not available, but it is believed they are members of the Pickle Crow or Central Patricia Gold Mines Company staff.

PARIS (CP-Havas)—Eugene Deloncle and General Edouard Duseigneur, alleged master-minds of the Cagoulard secret society, were formally arrested today. They were charged officially with "association with known criminals," but it was believed the charge would be amended to conspiring against the security of the state.

The name of General Maxime Weygand, one of France's most famous military commanders, was indirectly linked with the Cagoulard investigation today in unconfirmed reports police had searched an estate of his in Brittany.

Rumors indicating he was associated with the undercover machinations of the hooded men were met with a vigorous denial from the general, Marshal Ferdinand Foch's chief of staff during the Great War.

"Such insinuations are ridiculous," the veteran strategist told the newspaper Le Matin. "The house at present is uninhabited and has been closed."

ARRESTED ON STREET

Deloncle, a banker, described as the political and financial guiding brain of the hooded group, was taken into custody at 1 a.m. today at the corner of the Rue Rivoli and the Place du Theatre Francais.

General Duseigneur, rounded up Wednesday for questioning, was formally indicted on charges of complicity in the undercover armed preparations of the extreme rightist society. The former Air Ministry official was said to be the military chieftain of the organization.

The arrest of Deloncle came as a dramatic surprise in the sensational nationwide investigation, since he was reported to have fled to Italy. His brother, (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7)

BOMBARDMENT ROCKS MADRID

Loyalist Guns Answer Francoists in One of Heaviest Shellings of War

MADRID (AP)—Stricken Madrid awoke today from another night of terror to count its dead and take stock of material damage from one of the heaviest shellings of the Spanish civil war.

Like a gusty rainstorm the bombardment had swept back and forth across the city during the night from the centre to outlying residential sections. Three times Madrid residents thought the shelling had ended, but insurgent and government batteries did not fall silent finally until midnight.

Incomplete reports of rescue workers were that about a score of persons were killed in Madrid and many others injured.

PATTULLO PLAN LOOKED OVER

Illustration of social legislation now rests with the provinces and constitution amendments to transfer a portion of this field to the Dominion have been proposed. Forthcoming negotiations between Canada and the United States for a new trade agreement, and similar negotiations between United States and United Kingdom, will bring up the proposal of Mr. Pattullo under the heading of Empire preferences and trade with other countries. Construction of an international highway from Mexico to Alaska, passing through British Columbia, is a project that has engaged engineers of both United States and Canada for years in tentative surveys, but the huge cost of such an undertaking has stood as a barrier to immediate action.

Mr. Pattullo's proposal to ensure subsistence for unemployed and work for those able to perform it, is partially covered in the Dominion's recently announced plan to establish a national unemployment insurance system if the provinces agree to the necessary constitutional amendment. British Columbia was one of the first provinces to agree to the plan which was outlined in a letter by Prime Minister Mackenzie King to all provincial premiers November 5.

Notes of Legislature

Tomorrow: Afternoon sitting only, on bills and estimates.

Yesterday: The budget debate was concluded with the following speakers: Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary; E. V. Finland, Conservative, Esquimalt; J. Howard Forester, Liberal, Burrard, and Premier Pattullo. Estimates were started and bills passed through various stages.

Getting down to its first real day of business after the lengthy throne speech and budget debates, the House yesterday went through most of the order paper and advanced several pieces of legislation one stage.

Estimates were started at the night sitting, and at adjournment the votes for the public debt and about half the Department of Agriculture were completed.

Premier Pattullo quite frankly told the House that his traveling expenses last year were the highest he had ever been.

"But I traveled high and moved at a quick pace," he said. "When you're using airplanes at $50 an hour it mounts up, especially if you fly five hours a day."

Hitting back at R. L. Maitland, K.C., for his questions which the government had declined to answer for the present, the Premier said: "These were supposed to get us into a corner. But I don't propose to stand up against the ropes and let anybody take a crack at me."

The Premier hit a high point in his defence of government policy when he declared: "We are offering no apologies, no excuses—get that clear. We are only offering reasons for what we have done."

"I predict he will make his mark in the not far distant future. He has developed greatly in the last four years," said Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education and Provincial Secretary, yesterday in the Legislature, referring to Harold E. Winch, C.C.F., second member for Vancouver East.

The fisheries committee of the Legislature met this morning for organization under the chairmanship of Dr. J. J. Gillis, Liberal, Yale. Other members of this committee are J. M. Bryan, J. H. Forester, E. T. Kenney, George M. Murray, W. J. Asselstine, Colin Cameron, E. E. Winch, Macgregor Macintosh and J. A. Paton.

A number of distinguished Canadians, representing all shades of political thought, who have come to Victoria for the federal bye-election campaign, have been given on the floor of the House in recent days. Among them have been Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Minister of National Defence; J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., national leader of the C.C.F., and Hon. Groote Stirling, M.P., Minister of National Defence in the Bennett government. Senator J. H. King was also among other distinguished visitors during the last few days.

Public galleries were filled last night, the announcement that Premier Pattullo would speak drawing many people to the Parliament Buildings. Yesterday afternoon out-of-town members of the Provincial Council of Women, who in the morning interviewed the Cabinet, were guests on the floor of the House.

(z) That British Columbia shall be a beehive of industry and development, with economic and social security from the 49th parallel to its northern boundary, from Alberta to the Pacific, with our people happy and prosperous.

The Premier began his address with a review of political history in British Columbia since party government was introduced in 1903, recalling how natural resources had been alienated by the McBride administration, causing scattered settlement, the taking over of the P.G.E. Railway and the post-war rehabilitation period, all of which, he said, had a direct bearing on the problems of government today.

Analysing the growth of debt over that period he said Conservatives in 11 years of office had been responsible for $110,000,000 and Liberals in 16 years for $48,000,000. In this summary he charged the whole of the $62,000,000 P.G.E. liability to Conservatives for their railway policy which started it.

The Premier next reviewed what his own government had done since 1933. It had, he said, restored provincial credit, improved the roads and bridges, built the Pattullo bridge, advanced social welfare legislation, improved health services, revised the educational system, passed minimum wage and labor laws, adding millions to payrolls annually, worked for orderly marketing, aided industry to expand trade, assisted municipalities financially, adopted an aggressive reforestation policy, encouraged mining, started employment and training plans for unemployed youth, and renewed the B.C. better terms claim at Ottawa, and achieved the success of a $750,000 interim subsidy.

In connection with the proposed coal and petroleum board, he said Opposition members apparently were critical of the government about it. Yet, he said, his government had started the whole business by naming the commission, because three years ago it was dissatisfied with the conditions in the industries.

Touching forestry, he questioned the estimates of foresters who predicted an early end for the timber resources, saying: "You'll never destroy the timber in our time or in the generation to follow."

He admitted he had left his residence at the time the current investigation by police began and had sought refuge with some political friends. He refused to divulge the names of these.

Deloncle, who was born at Brest 47 years ago, holds a prominent place in French engineering and financial circles. His services to France won him the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre.

FURNITURE MAN
Inspectors searching Paris and the provinces for widespread details of the conspiracy, which the government declared last Tuesday had been smashed, reported these new developments.

Evidence showing Jacques Corze, 28-year-old furniture salesman, was "one of the ringleaders of the secret Committee for Revolutionary Action."

Arrest of a number of Algerian recruiting officers.

Proof the conspirators called themselves the "CSAR," initials for "Comite Secret d'Action Revolutionnaire."

Police also held for investigation retired naval commander Joseph le Maresquier and Sergt. Aviator Cheron.

Agents said Corze, the furniture salesman, had lived with Deloncle, where they found a number of plans, including diagrams of the Paris sewer system. The sewer tunnels are large enough to permit underground movement of troops.

A raid on the furniture store where Corze was employed yielded documents disclosing the name of the revolutionary organization. In the office where Corze was said to have acted as Deloncle's secretary were found arm bands with a royalist insignia—a white fleur-de-lys on a blue background.

The index (with 1926 as 100) was 125.7 at October 1, 1937, 123.2 at September 1, 1937, 110.1 at October 1, 1936, and 106.1 at October 1, 1935.

Of 208,833 trade unionists, 1,847 local unions reported 7.7 per cent or 16,129 unemployed.

Harry Millman Shot By Gunmen in Detroit; Four Men Wounded

DETROIT (AP)—Gangland executioners invaded a restaurant and cocktail bar crowded with Thanksgiving eve merry-makers at 1 a.m. today, killed Harry Millman, described by police as "the last of the Purple Gang leaders," and wounded four other men.

Nine pistol shots struck Millman as he reached for a drink a bartender had just poured for him.

Two of the wounded men were identified by police as employees of Millman's horse race hand-book. They are Harry Goss, in critical condition with wounds in the right shoulder, back and abdomen, and Harry Cooper, who was treated for a flesh wound in the neck.

The others, police said, were bystanders. They were: Harry Shulak, Toledo, O., a furrier, and Abe Butensky, linoleum salesman.

The shots that killed Millman were fired by two gunmen who had shouldered their way through a crowd of diners in the restaurant adjoining the cocktail bar.

Henri Deloncle, also is under arrest.

MOVEMENT BLOCKED

Police held the view that with these two men in their grasp they had "decapitated" the secret organization which allegedly planned to topple the government by armed force and establish a dictatorship in preparation for a restoration of the monarchy.

Following indications the Bourbon-Orleans family, whose claims the non-existent French throne, was linked with plottings of Les Cagoulards, police today raided and searched the offices of The Courier Royal, organ of the Duke of Guise, the French pretender. The Duke, now in Belgium, early this week issued a manifesto urging a restoration of monarchical rule.

Eugene Deloncle, managing director of the Caisse Hypothecaire Maritime et Fluviale in Paris and a consulting engineer at the Penhoet shipyards, was held at Surete Nationale headquarters and subjected to police questioning.

He admitted he had left his residence at the time the current investigation by police began and had sought refuge with some political friends. He refused to divulge the names of these.

Deloncle, who was born at Brest 47 years ago, holds a prominent place in French engineering and financial circles. His services to France won him the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre.

FURNITURE MAN
Inspectors searching Paris and the provinces for widespread details of the conspiracy, which the government declared last Tuesday had been smashed, reported these new developments.

Evidence showing Jacques Corze, 28-year-old furniture salesman, was "one of the ringleaders of the secret Committee for Revolutionary Action."

Arrest of a number of Algerian recruiting officers.

Proof the conspirators called themselves the "CSAR," initials for "Comite Secret d'Action Revolutionnaire."

Police also held for investigation retired naval commander Joseph le Maresquier and Sergt. Aviator Cheron.

Agents said Corze, the furniture salesman, had lived with Deloncle, where they found a number of plans, including diagrams of the Paris sewer system. The sewer tunnels are large enough to permit underground movement of troops.

A raid on the furniture store where Corze was employed yielded documents disclosing the name of the revolutionary organization. In the office where Corze was said to have acted as Deloncle's secretary were found arm bands with a royalist insignia—a white fleur-de-lys on a blue background.

RAID ON PAPER'S OFFICE PROTESTED

was not in The Clarion office. He explained the finding by police of copies of the banned publication in The Clarion's Montreal office as not being unusual. Sydney Jordan, The Clarion's correspondent there, he said, was interested in French publications and naturally would have copies on hand for his own use.

The Clarion's office in Montreal is located at the rear of the Modern Book Shop, and a Canadian Press dispatch, reporting Wednesday evening's raid, said it was the second time provincial police had descended on the book shop since Premier Maurice Duplessis ordered enforcement of his padlock law two weeks ago. In the first raid, the Attorney-General's department officers seized books and pamphlets.

One or two books also were seized Wednesday evening, officers said.

They took, too, some copies of Le Jour (The Day), a Montreal French weekly paper, clippings from various newspapers and some correspondence.

It was the seventh Montreal raid since the Premier, as Attorney-General, began clamping down with the padlock law which his Union Nationale government passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Since its office was padlocked, Clarie has been published somewhere outside Montreal, reputedly in Toronto. Its last issue appeared on sale here last week on schedule.

Mr. Bennett to the Rescue

SENSING DEFEAT, CONSERVATIVES have induced Mr. Bennett to change his plans and have rushed him all the way across the continent from Halifax in a last desperate effort to pull their campaign here out of the hole.

Mr. Bennett has been a powerful corporation counsel. On the platform he is thunderous and forceful. In his contacts he is pompously dominating. His weakness in political associations is the weakness of the egoist. Also, as one of the richest men in Canada, it is natural he should lose the viewpoint of the common man and find himself sympathizing generally with his fellow economic royalists.

As Prime Minister of Canada, he operated a one-man government, tolerating none but yes-men in his cabinet. After one term, he took his party down to the most humiliating defeat in recent federal history. From coast to coast his party now lies prostrate, with little hope and without a policy. Leaders to work with him or to succeed him there are none; he would never risk developing anyone to rival him for power. Unwavering Conservative newspaper organs, such as The Montreal Gazette, The Ottawa Journal and The Victoria Colonist, have been repeatedly asking for a national convention to do something about it all and to discover what Conservative policy is. They frankly admit they don't know, and no one else does.

Mr. Bennett boasted he would blast a way for Canada into world markets. But when his dynamiting tactics failed, reacting disastrously on Canada, he turned in a political panic to the other extreme. With radical, over-night "New Deal" policies, threatening to "out-New-Deal Roosevelt," he threw a scare into old-time Tories. But he shattered the country's confidence in himself as a politically stable factor.

He bases his claim to fame on bringing the Englishmen to heel and forcing the Ottawa trade agreements of 1932 on them. Through these he did make trade gains for Canada. Their worth has been proved by the fact that they have been continued by the Liberal government. The latter, however, in renewing them this year went farther than Mr. Bennett in encouraging British trade. The Liberals this year in ordering tariff reductions on some 250 additional items of imports from Britain, did what Mr. Bennett and his textile and other monopolistic associates would never do.

In his recent addresses, Mr. Bennett has given no indication of his party having an all-Canada policy to meet the current social and economic problems of a country of widely varied interests. In Vancouver the other day, he reverted simply to a higher tariff as a panacea for all ills.

After three years, with the crisis and autocratic in government under Mr. Bennett, it was with relief that the Canadian people turned to the Mackenzie King government. It is the latter's record of democratic and orderly stability during the last two years that the people of Victoria are asked to endorse in the present by-election through electing Mr. Mayhew.

Canada Solidly Liberal

ON THE EVENING OF OCTOBER 14, 1935, as soon as the returns of the federal election held that day had reached Ottawa, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition for more than five years, gave a statement to the press, of which the following was a part:

"The people of Canada have made clear that, in their opinion, 'present material interests,' and a course of action which does not distinguish between materialistic and spiritual values, must make way for something nobler in the conduct of a nation's affairs; and that self-seeking and selfishness, however much they may appear to lead to worldly success, are not the paths of true greatness either for an individual or a nation. The people of Canada today have reaffirmed their faith in the ancient and beneficent precepts that it is only by sharing each other's burdens, and doing unto others as we would have others do unto us, that men and nations can serve their own best interests and the common good."

The popular verdict of the Canadian people in 1935, when they gave Mr. King a parliamentary majority greater than any since Confederation, was regarded at the time—and rightly so—as their unmistakable approval of the principles and policies which the Liberal party has consistently and continuously espoused, and for which it has steadily fought. That opinion of two years ago has shown increased strength by the results of several provincial general elections in the meantime.

Mr. Pattullo's Speech

PREMIER PATTULLO CLOSED THE budget debate in the Legislature last night with a 90-minute speech which will go down in the records of the House as remarkable for its terseness of phrase and clarity of explanation. Foremost among his pronouncements were his promise of legislation to create a Coal and Petroleum Control Board for this province, to initiate a bill to provide more effective and expeditious machinery for the adjustment of differences between employers and employees, so strikes may be avoided, and to take action in the interests of forest conservation, coupling this promise with some warnings against undue alarm—suggesting that the government has in its possession sufficient information on the general timber situation to meet all eventualities.

The disclosures in what is now generally known as the Macdonald Fuel Report already have been briefly referred to in these columns and by most of the newspapers of this and other provinces. Since it was made public, requests from governments, fuel companies, industrialists and private citizens for copies of the document have been literally pouring in, in view of which the government has decided to print a limited number of the report—not yet complete, by the way. The vast importance of Mr. Justice Macdonald's findings naturally will not encourage undue speed on the part of such machinery as may be authorized by the legislation which Premier Pattullo intends to present to the House. It will not be surprising, moreover, if the far-reaching significance of the matter eventually involves action on a much wider scale than may appear at present. In any event, Mr. Pattullo has wasted no time in arranging for the erection of the initial machinery to give effect, in so far as lies within the powers of the province, to the judicial recommendations.

It is plain to see from the Prime Minister's intention to improve labor relations, that he is solidly behind the policy of liberalism of thought and action in this regard. As he pointed out, the strike, with its concomitant distress among wage-earners, resembles a form of civil war. But he considers this doubtful remedy for industrial grievances can be profitably displaced by negotiation of the mutual give-and-take method.

As former Minister of Lands, Premier Pattullo acquainted himself thoroughly with the forest situation in British Columbia, and since he has been leader of the government he has not ceased to give to that situation the consideration to which it is entitled. The general threat is that unless something of a drastic nature is not undertaken quickly our forests will face depletion in the not distant future. Mr. Pattullo has given the public an assurance that his government is far from unmindful of the seriousness of these conditions.

Mr. Pattullo is equipped with the capacity to get things done. His budget speech last night was an intimation that he will not shirk such responsibility as he thinks belongs to him and his colleagues in the government as it concerns the three issues to which we have referred.

LARGEST IN SEVEN YEARS

From The Toronto Star
It was an encouraging message that President S. H. Logan brought to the Canadian Bankers' Association when he described Canada's progress during the 12 months which ended with September as the greatest in 10 years with the exception of that recorded in 1934, when the upswing from the pit of the depression began with a rush. The recovery registered during the past twelve months has, Mr. Logan thinks, restored prosperity in most of Canada, exceptions being certain large urban centres and the drought-stricken areas of the west.

As Mr. Logan points out, the Dominion has now the largest national income in seven years—approximately $5,000,000,000. If her export markets can be expanded or even maintained, she may face the future with confidence. There is, unfortunately, so much world unrest that an assurance of this is lacking. As Mr. Logan puts it: "No one can prophesy the progress to be made in this direction during the next year, but it is encouraging that at last more practical views prevail than those which formerly held sway, namely, that the way to durable social improvement was along the narrow path of trade and investment restrictions. It is on the growing desire for freer trade that I base the hope that Canadian economy, revitalized and more efficient and productive than before, will soon overcome the new difficulties of recent months and resume the progressive course of the past year."

Across the Bay

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

GREAT SIGHT

PREMIER PATTULLO, who has been sitting back for nearly a month now, brooding, silent and grim, like a watchful bulldog, suddenly roused himself Wednesday. It was a splendid and titanic sight worth coming far to see.

He started in the afternoon by gruffly sweeping the C.C.F. and its gigantic pile of resolutions aside. He finished at night by revealing, with one tremendous gesture, the whole past of provincial politics and fore-shadowing, with another, equally tremendous, its glorious future. And all through this, the best speech he has made since his salad days of opposition, one of the best in his life, his followers sat about starry-eyed, like children about their father's knee at bedtime.

It was the old Pattullo again, with all his old fire, all that amazing store of sheer vitality which few men possess at half his age—the old Pattullo, pink of face, jaw out-thrust, eyes flashing; the leader who may be properly called the sword and buckler of his party.

Here was the man who has never doubted clouds would break; who never saw any clouds at all; for whom all life has been sunshine and the world always as young and fresh as tomorrow morning. Here was the man who could pause in his speech, glare at the opposition, cry: "We have no apologies to offer for anything—we have only reasons," and mean it, and what is more, believe it.

YEARS AND DOLLARS

NO APOLOGIES, indeed, not for anything that has happened in 16 years of Liberal rule, nor for anything that is going to happen in a programme of 26 separate points, one for every letter in the alphabet. Year by year, dollar by dollar, he reviewed these Liberal years in the same old speech which, as he said himself, used to be so familiar that anyone could recite it almost word by word, but which was new to this new House.

Year by year, dollar by dollar—South Okanagan, Sumas, irrigation, returned soldier problem, industries loans, university lands and so on up to Work and Wages, which he flung once more, as jubilantly as ever, in the teeth of the enemy.

The purpose of which was to prove that the Liberal Party had only piled up 48 millions of debt in 16 years, while the Conservatives have piled up 110 millions in 11 years, and to demonstrate that party politics is the best system of government.

It was when he turned to the future that he really hit his stride. Here he was more vigorous, more sure of himself and in better health and form than at any time since he became Premier. In such good form that he could pause and read a list of all our former Premiers with their dates and suggest that he, having taken office in 1933, would go on "ad infinitum." The children about his knee fairly hugged themselves with delight.

Mr. Pattullo needed no speech to establish himself firmly in his saddle, where he rides hard. He was firm there already, undisputed, unchallenged by his followers. But his speech, revealing anew the sheer and undoubted force of his character, still undimmed, made him more firm than ever, roused his followers to new heights of devotion, added another memory to what has become a charmed, almost a legendary, life in our politics.

DEBATER

THE DAY was almost heavy-sweet with eloquence. Dr. Weir provided much of it in one of his customary addresses, full of a rich classical flavor, quotations from Tennyson, Gladstone and Plato, and low gurgles and murmurs which, hardly heard on the other side of the House, often contain his best phrases.

It was the kind of competent address which the House has learned to expect from its most skillful debater and ablest maker of phrase. It started with literary illusions, warmed up to some biting sarcasm against the opposition, swung into a strong defence of his health insurance plans, and ended in a final burst of determined idealism. Whatever has happened to his health insurance plans for the present, Dr. Weir is as strong in this House as ever.

Mr. Forester of Burrard made a reasoned and genial appeal for a better deal for municipalities, and Mr. Finlay demanded that the government take its courage in its hands, devise a real policy, and develop the country. The rest of the day was routine and dull, but got us considerably nearer prorogation.

WHAT BRITAIN SEEKS

London Cable to Toronto Star
There are great difficulties in the way of achieving a far-reaching trade agreement. Britain already buys from the United States nearly three times as much as she sells.

If the British and especially the Dominion governments have really gone as far as this already, says The Manchester Guardian, it suggests that the political necessity for some gesture of economic friendship between these two great nations has "overridden all considerations of difficulty and hard bargaining."

CANADA NOT GIVING ANYTHING AWAY

Toronto Star Ottawa Dispatch

The Canadian attitude is to facilitate the United Kingdom-United States negotiations in so far as the Dominion may, with regard to her own interests, reasonably do so. Most of the preferences now enjoyed by Canada in the United Kingdom on primary products are considered vital to satisfactory development of primary industries here, and Canada will not agree to abandon them unless satisfactory compensating concessions are given the Dominion by the United States in the new trade pact with this country.

Letters to the Editor

MUCH DEPENDS ON SINGING NATIONAL ANTHEMS

To the Editor:—The C.C.F. candidate, King Gordon, and his supporting speakers—frequently mention the highly-socialized Dominion of New Zealand; but, if the New Zealanders are confirmed Socialists they do not lose their balance and dignity to the Crown and state.

If C.C.F. candidate, King Gordon, and his followers are the same kind of Socialists as the New Zealanders—and I doubt it—I would suggest—if they ever wish to succeed in Victoria or any other part of the Dominion of Canada—to open and close their political meetings by singing the national anthem in the same way as the good people of New Zealand and Canada always do and always will.

Incidentally, I heard Mr. King Gordon speak the other evening on social security, and also heard a Welsh miner speak on the same subject 50 years ago and the miner made a much better speech.

JOHN ROWLAND,

SURPRISED AT CANDIDATE

To the Editor:—I was surprised to know that the Conservative candidate, B. A. McKelvie, was now trying to block the Canada-Alaska Highway, after the way he was boasting for it in 1930. But of course he was paid for it then, but he is on the Opposition now. He must think he is talking to people who have never traveled. I maintain that if ever this highway comes into existence, and with the many highways from the United States into British Columbia, it will be the biggest tourist proposition ever brought about for this province.

There is another thing Mr. B. A. McKelvie tried to do, and that was to form another province, for Vancouver Island which, of course, he said that he did not speak of as secessionist.

The question in my mind is how is it Mr. Harvey, president of the Conservative Association, did not get the nomination, as he was the man that was keeping the association together.

DON CASTRI.

CAN GET WHAT WE WANT

To the Editor:—Your column in a recent issue has attacked the Social Crediters of Victoria for asking among other questions, whether "strength, happiness and prosperity depend on foreign trade." In suggesting that the 400 Social Crediters will find no difficulty in answering this question, he is correct; but what is less obvious, will he?

This "economic fad" to which he subsequently graciously refers, requires probably too analytical a study for him to give a reasoned rebuttal, vituperation is easier. It might interest him to know that the principal teaching of Social Credit is that people in association, can get what they want, providing it is physically possible. By banding themselves together to vote only for the candidate who will place first the abolition of poverty, without penalizing individuals or institutions. They present a united democratic demand for results, and no red herring such as foreign trade dangled before their eyes in going to defect them one iota from their purpose.

They are determined to restore to the people their undeniable right of being able to consume all they can produce up to their capacity to consume.

For this reason candidates both now and in the future will not "waste time," listening to what the people want, and not drag their attention all over the world while their own home wants putting in order first.

By uniting in this manner they automatically "back their own candidate" in each and every election.

ALAN G. HORSFIELD,
2856 Cadboro Bay Road.

QUESTIONS FOR CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE

To the Editor:—If Mr. McKelvie has been correctly reported he might care to answer through the press the following questions:

(1) "No effort has been made (by the federal government) to help us replace the industries we have lost."

Would he say how we lost these industries, more particularly as many people on the island were unable to avail themselves of the output of those industries?

(2) "If we can't get a fair deal for Vancouver Island it is not only right that we should have our own revenues and a separate province."

How can having our own revenues (all derived from taxation) help industries or individuals? Would not a separate provincial parliament, with a share of the provincial debt, necessitate as much taxation per capita as we now have to bear?

(3) "You all remember the Imperial Conference at Ottawa in 1932.

Yes, we do. Will Mr. McKelvie say why the report of the London Chamber of Commerce, signed by the leading business men of the Empire, urging monetary reform as the outstanding need, was "ditched" by the conference? Is he aware that a favorable balance of trade in one part of the Empire means an unfavorable balance to another part, resulting in continual friction?

Has he overlooked the unsatisfied domestic market? Would he not agree that a system which would supply our own needs and leave us a true surplus for export is what the people want and need?

F. SAXTON WHITE,
630 Island Road, for Victoria Social Credit Association.

GETTING THINGS FROM OTTAWA

To the Editor:—Mr. Harvey has challenged Mr. Mayhew's statement that Victoria would secure greater benefits by sending a representative to sit on the government side of the House than one to add to the admirable Conservative minority.

A Mr. Reid fails to submit one benefit a Liberal would give us that a Conservative could not equally well obtain.

He ends up by issuing a counter challenge that the advantages Victoria has received during the many years of Conservative representation be enumerated. Any inference that our late Conservative member did not give us representation is made absurd in the light of the late Dr. Tolmie's strenuous struggle against ruinous harbor dues being imposed on this port, which struggle was successful. Literally to his death he carried on. It is neither necessary nor convenient to tell all the Conservatives have done for Victoria, but I will mention one other instance.

Victoria harbor was notoriously bad. It is only our magnificent breakwater that made it, so to speak, respectable. And it was a Conservative that got the breakwater for us from a Conservative government.

B. EDMON,
565 Yates Street.

ON SCARING VOTERS

To the Editor:—It is an excellent indication to find so many young people taking an interest in politics. Every young man and woman should have some idea, when voting the Liberal, Conservative or Co-operative Commonwealth ticket, as to what they are voting for. It is not quite good enough to vote Liberal or vote Conservative just because one's father was a Liberal or Conservative. Such liberty as we have was never won that way.

It should not be necessary to suggest that every old or young partisan of one party should inform himself or herself as to what the policies are of the other two parties before making statements about them. To illustrate, I was told by a lady, who knows nothing of what the C.C.F. stands for that she would not think of voting C.C.F. because if that party got into power it would take her home and personal possessions from her. I asked as to where she got that information. She replied that her Liberal and Conservative friends said so. If the statement was made to this lady through ignorance it might be excusable. If it was made with the purpose of influencing a vote it was a contemptible method to pursue.

ASK DANGERS BE EXPLAINED

The agriculture committee of the Legislature held its final meeting yesterday when the report to be presented to the Legislature was given the assent of members.

The report recommends a bounty of $4 be paid on coyotes during the summer months; that farmers be allowed to continue to work out their taxes on the roads; the lowering of license rates on private cars and that the government should this year send out to every school in the province a number of empty detonator caps to be shown to the pupils and that a provincial police constable, or some other qualified person should address the children on the danger of handling detonators and other similar explosives.

It was decided to hold over for further information the clause recommending that the Department of Finance be asked to consider the feasibility of substituting a school tax on the gross income of all residents of a school district, in unorganized territory, in place of the school tax on real and personal.

FISH MEN FEAR LOSS

Appeal to Pattullo For Aid in Keeping Empire Preferences

Representatives of the British Columbia fishing industry appealed to Premier Pattullo and Hon. George S. Pearson, Commissioner of Fisheries, yesterday for aid in fighting any change in the British trade preferences which would affect their markets.

They were promised that the provincial government will immediately take it up with Ottawa.

In a lengthy brief, the government was told that the British preferences have created entirely new markets for some British Columbia fisheries products and in others have increased sales sufficiently to offset losses in non-Empire markets closed by tariff walls and quotas.

The delegation, sponsored by the fisheries section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, consisted of J. S. Eckman and C. F. Todd of the salmon cannery section, R. Nelson of the meal, oil and salt fish section, Robert Walker of the frozen fish section, G. R. Clark, secretary of the fisheries section and Hugh Dalton, secretary of the B.C. division.

Any downward revision in the preferences would mean an immediate curtailment of exports to the United Kingdom of canned salmon, a business which was worth $3,460,000 last year, and would cause a serious decrease in production operations, the delegation said.

It would also be detrimental to the industry in its other Empire markets where preferences were enjoyed, but where competition from Japanese canned salmon was stiff.

"If any concession is granted the United States by the United Kingdom withdrawing or lowering the existing preferences, a dangerous precedent will be created whereby other Empire preferences will be affected and the door left open for other producing countries to request equal treatment for their products against which we cannot hope to compete," the brief said.

Under the preferences an entirely new market for fish oils had been established, now totaling 80 per cent of the total export, it was pointed out. Similarly, halibut to a value of $134,854 were shipped in the first six months of this year to Britain, where none was sold in 1931. The fresh and frozen salmon business had increased from $473,550 in 1931 to $638,200 last year.

Change in the preference must inevitably mean either a cut in production or a lowering of the export price to meet the United States competition and consequent unprofitable operation for producers and lower prices for fishermen, it was stated.

WOULD MAKE CAMPS PUBLIC

Colin Cameron Seeks New Plan For Industrial Settlements

A bill to create public settlements at industrial enterprises where employees live on company property was moved on second reading in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday by Colin Cameron, C.C.F., Comox. The measure would create a public settlement where 25 or more persons lived on one square mile or less of territory, would make the roads public thoroughfares and apply ordinary tenant laws to bunkhouses. It applies to settlements at factories, canneries, logging camps, mines, sawmills or other manufacturing enterprises.

Mr. Cameron said men in these sorts of settlements were forbidden intercourse with people outside unless the management said so and were unable to have visitors except by the company's agreement.

Premier Pattullo adjourned debate on the bill.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores—or any druggist, a package of Hemoroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemoroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it relieves the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use, may be had at such a reasonable cost.

HIDEOUTS IN AUTO CAMPS

Auto camps in British Columbia are used sometimes by criminals as "hide-outs" Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said in the Legislature yesterday, explaining why the government proposes to force registration of cars and guests in country camps and hotels.

Mr. Wismer said this was particularly so of narcotic addicts and peddlers who would keep their stock of drugs hidden near by a camp. The new bill, he said, will assist the police to check up on this type of people. Similar regulations are already in force in cities and organized municipalities.

Charge "Gypping" On Milk Sales

But Minister Tells House Marketing Has Increased Returns to Farmers

Statement in the Legislature last night by Dr. J. Lyle Telford, C.C.F., Vancouver East, that farmers are being "badly gypped in the milk racket in Vancouver," precipitated a long wrangle over the Fraser Valley milk marketing scheme.

Dr. Telford said some merchants were not making fair returns to the producers. They obtained milk at the price for manufacture and sell it on the fluid market.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, suggested Dr. Telford take his complaint to the milk marketing board because the government did not inspect milk in Vancouver.

The minister asserted that the marketing plan had put $500,000 into the pockets of Fraser Valley farmers in 16 months and had raised the price of milk only 1 cent a quart.

Dr. Telford said the price should be dropped to encourage milk consumption because the average consumption in Vancouver was much below that for Canada as a whole.

Dr. MacDonald insisted that consumers had no right to expect producers to turn out their products at a loss.

When Dr. Telford pointed out that British Columbia producers could not supply the local butter market, Dr. MacDonald said Alberta butter was being dumped on the coast.

L. Shepherd, C.C.F., Delta, declared farmers were not getting enough for their milk and reiterated they were being "gypped."

Dr. MacDonald said the farmers could all get 43 cents a pound butterfat for their milk if they would co-operate to make the marketing plan workable, but a militant minority insisted on upsetting arrangements. Nothing could be done until the validity of the marketing law was established one way or the other in the Empire's courts. He said a central agency control could work it out.

Dr. Telford said the best way was to socialize the whole thing and Mrs. D. G. Steeves, North Vancouver, urged that consumers be represented on the marketing board as in Great Britain.

McKelvie Says Federal Regulations Made at
B.C.'s Expense

Poultrymen on Vancouver Island had suffered heavy losses because of the policy of the Federal Department of Agriculture. Bruce A. McKelvie, Conservative candidate in the forthcoming federal by-election said at North Ward School last night.

The policy of Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, who will reach Victoria at the weekend, resulted in regulations which would exclude shipments to Alberta and Saskatchewan, Mr. McKelvie said.

The removal of egg-laying contests from Sidney, on Vancouver Island, to the interior of the province, the candidate said, had caused a setback in the development of strains of poultry peculiar to the island.

The present educational policy of Canada, he said, seemed only prepared to teach children for residence in a city, with no attention paid for the requirements necessary to other walks of life. He said his great desire was to see the youth of British Columbia in profitable employment. There was no chance of the youth making their permanent homes in their birthplaces unless there was a development of the natural resources of the country.

As an Opposition member he said he believed he could give better service to Victoria than a member of the Government party. He said, in this way, he could express the wishes of the people of the island without fear of caucus rule and without fear of embarrassment to the government. He realized support must be obtained from the east for British Columbia and the other western provinces.

Mr. McKelvie was supported by Hugh Allan and Warwick Rowson. W. H. M. Haldane was chairman.

Mr. Rowson made a plea to the youth of Victoria to support Mr. McKelvie and Conservative principles of government. He urged youth to take an active interest in politics, not only at the time of an election, but at all times. A great deal of the recovery of Canadian business must necessarily go to former Premier Bennett, for the Imperial preferences he sponsored in 1932, Mr. Allan said.

Criticism of government was not forthcoming if there were too many government members, Mr. Allan said, attacking the Liberal plea that another government member was needed. Such an appeal, he said, was against the strict principle of the party system, which had developed in democracies because it provided opposition and criticism that was healthy.

Await Windsors In New Mexico

SPRINGER, N.M. (AP)—Preparations for a visit by the Duke and Duchess of Windsor in mountainous northern New Mexico were disclosed Wednesday by Leonard Horbury of Rugby, Eng., millionaire member of the Liverpool Cotton Exchange.

Horbury said he was refurbishing his luxurious Vallejo Polo Ranch at a cost of $65,000 to entertain the couple.

Here in the rugged country just east of the snow-topped peaks of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains, Horbury has established one of the most pretentious guest ranches in the United States southwest. Mr. and Mrs. Horbury arrived here this month and have indicated the Duke and Duchess of Windsor might be expected in the United States some time after the first of the year.

Smaller Staffs At Auto Plants

DETROIT (AP)—The Chrysler Corporation moved Wednesday to reduce its payrolls in line with curtailed production schedules.

The corporation announced that approximately 10,000 of its 55,000 employees in Detroit plants had been laid off and the work week reduced from 40 to 32 hours, as provided for in its contract with the United Automobile Workers of America. The management said the workers laid off were probationary and those with the least seniority, as provided for in the contract.

The other companies composing the "big three," the Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corporation, said they had made no general cuts in employment.

The Ford Company, which started introduction of new models later than other manufacturers, has not yet completed stocking its dealers. General Motors said its total employment this week was approximately 2,000 less than last month.

Musical Arts Has Novel Concert

Surprise Programme In Honor Of Hon. E. W. And Mrs. Hamber

By G. J. D. Deviating from its usual concert method, the Victoria Musical Arts Society yesterday evening at the Empress Hotel arranged a most attractive and amusing surprise programme, in which many world-wide artists were allegedly to appear, but owing to some unfortunate circumstances (fees principally), a last-minute telegram had been received cancelling the engagement of these artists. The printed programme bore the names of such artists as Paderewski, Sach, Melchior, Schipa, Kreisler, Tibbett, Flagstad, Raye, Crosby and Eddy, supported by an augmented orchestra from New York.

Before the proceedings opened the society's president, Mrs. Aileen Peebles, made some announcements, during which an artist evidently impatient and somewhat nervous, who had accompanied the president to the stage, explained after her departure he thought so much of the wonderful organization that he was consumed with interest, and would, if he were allowed, "take control" of the evening's concert. This artist proved to be Fraser Lister, who, with well-sustained humor and comedy, acted as master of ceremonies to the artists he had procured from a "coal cellar," where they happened to be holding a rehearsal, with the exception of Mrs. G. A. McCurdy, a pianist of exceptional talent and technical equipment (an acquisition to the city's musical "circles"), who played three numbers, the second "Harmonica Player" (Guyon), with excellent rhythm.

The other "star artists" were the Elizabethan Quartette from Gilbert and Sullivan operas; Fraser Lister himself ("Green-eyed Dragon"); Dudley Wickett, in three songs; "The Egg," a clever adaptation of "well-known vocal compositions," receiving rounds of applause, and the "augmented orchestra," comprised of Helen Ockenden, who accompanied with excellent co-ordination and musical perception; Leslie Jordan, violinist, the concertmaster, David Townsend, double bass, and Jack Townsend, on a recording with his two-only notes play in the selection, this creating much amusement. The vocal quartette was comprised of Dorothy Parsons, Phyllis Deaville, Dudley Wickett and Jack Townsend, a new group who will be well advised to look after such elements as "balance" and "sonority."

The evening was especially arranged in honor of the patrons, the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Eric W. Hamber, who, with a party from Government House, were guests on the occasion. They, with Alderman S. H. Ockell, representing the mayor, and Mrs. Ockell received the large number of the members, standing with the president outside the ballroom door.

HERE'S THE SECRET OF SERVING GOOD COFFEE

• Carnation in coffee adds flavour and a rich colour. On cereals or fruit, Carnation takes the place of cream deliciously and economically. In all cooking where milk is used, Carnation adds richness, because Carnation itself is twice as rich as ordinary milk; smoothness, because every drop of Carnation has its share of butterfat.

All the food value of the best cows' milk is in Carnation, making it a splendid food for babies. In addition, it is more digestible and has extra "sunshine" vitamin D. Carnation is the evaporated milk the Dione Ointments use.

RECENT WEDDINGS

PLAYER-ARCHIBALD

The marriage of Norah Nesbitt, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Archibald, to Mr. Francis E. L. Player, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Player, Richmond Road, Victoria, was quietly solemnized at Young United Church, Winnipeg, Saturday afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Donnelly officiating.

The charming bride, attired in a floor-length Lorraine velvet gown and wearing a corsage of Johanna Hill roses and lilies of the valley, was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Archibald, wore a gown of delphinium blue lace. Mrs. Player of Victoria, mother of the bridegroom, was becomingly gowned in black lace.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Fort Garry Court. The happy couple left by motor for Minneapolis and points south. For going away the bride wore a brown French lapin trotteur over a hunter's green knitted frock, with matching accessories.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Player will reside at Emerson, Man.

DETTMAN-SCOTT

St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, was the scene of the marriage of Dorothea, elder daughter of Mr. Walter Scott of 1155 Old Esquimalt Road, and the late Mrs. Scott, and Mr. Albert Dettman of Vancouver, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dettman of Winnipeg, yesterday evening at 8. Rev. Arthur Bischlager performed the ceremony and the music was played by the organist, Mr. F. E. Boulter.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of gold ripple cloth modelled on princess lines. From the high-waisted collar to the bottom of the skirt a row of self-covered buttons was used effectively in trimming, and the full sleeves tapered to points over the wrists. With this she wore a halo hat of brown velvet, and a corsage of Cashmere roses.

Miss Anna Balnave was the only attendant on the bride, and wore a frock of gold and brown crepe back satin, with hat to match and a corsage of pink rose buds.

Mr. Earl Conroy was best man and Mr. Richard Burnett was the usher.

At the reception following the ceremony the guests were welcomed at the home of the bride's father, by Mrs. Scott, who wore a gown of navy blue and white with hat to match, and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Dettman left on a trip through Washington and Oregon states, and will later make their home in Vancouver, to which city the bridegroom has lately been transferred from Winnipeg.

EASTON-WOODWARD

The Victoria Gospel Hall was beautifully decorated with flowers for the wedding last night at 8.30 of Lillian Mary, third daughter of Mrs. A. J. Woodward of "Clovelly," North Quadra Street, and of the late Mr. Woodward, and Mr. Carman Ross Easton, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Easton, Kings Road.

Mr. B. Sutherland performed the ceremony, the bridal party standing before a white lattice with tall baskets filled with golden chrysanthemums and gold leaves. Posies of flowers tied with white satin ribbon were attached to the guest pews.

To the strains of the Bridal Chorus, played by Mr. Ian Gillford, the bride entered with her brother, Mr. Edmund Woodward, who gave her in marriage. She wore a charming mayonaise frock of ivory chiffon velvet, with a short train, and a shirred bodice and long shirred sleeves which came to a point over the wrists. Her lovely veil of old Buckingham lace was attached to a pointed headpiece of seed pearls, with a cluster of orange blossoms over each ear, and fell in soft folds to the hem of her dress. She carried a round bouquet of golden Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Woodward, sister of the bride, and Miss Aileen Grubb, in charming floor-length frocks of yellow lace with long-pointed sleeves, who wore coronets of gold ribbon and leaves and gold slippers, and carried arm bouquets of Talisman roses.

The bride's small nieces, Constance and Felicity Woodward, were flower girls, dressed in long frocks of yellow velvet, and matching Juliet caps, who carried Victorian posies of blending flowers.

Mr. Kenneth Easton attended his brother, and Mr. Edgar Burkinshaw was usher.

After the ceremony a reception was held at "Clovelly," where Mrs. Woodward received in a frock of beige suede lace with black accessories, and a corsage bouquet of yellow roses and lilies of the valley, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, in a Burgundy lace gown and a matching velour hat, with a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

The drawing-room was arranged with tall baskets of pink chrysanthemums and silver leaves. Supper was served in the dining-room, the table with its wedding cake being illuminated with ivory tapers in silver candelabra.

After a honeymoon on the mainland, for which the bride went away in a crepe frock and velour hat in Dubonnet shade, and a brown squirrel coat adorned with a corsage bouquet of gardenias, the couple will return to Victoria to live.

Speaks of Issues

Conservative Women Hear Member For Yukon Territory

Issues of the present campaign as they particularly affect women were dealt with by Mrs. George Black, M.P. for the Yukon, in her address at a largely-attended reception given by the Women's Conservative Association yesterday afternoon in the interests of the Conservative candidate, Mr. B. A. McKelvie.

The affair was held in the Conservative Clubrooms, Campbell Building, Mrs. S. R. Bowden presided and other speakers included Mrs. McKelvie and Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale.

After reminding her audience that almost 51 per cent of the electorate of Canada were women, Mrs. Black touched upon the trade treaties. As a ninth-generation American, born in Chicago, she knew that the Americans were hard traders and as such would demand a hard bargain if the Canadian government entered into trade relations with the United States government.

BITTERNESS REGRETTED

The speaker also made reference to the bitterness of the present campaign and declared that while she did not always agree with Prime Minister Mackenzie King's policies, this was no reason for her to abuse him. Nor could she understand the abuse directed at Mr. B. Bennett, "one of the greatest statesmen Canada has ever known. He is too indifferent to the opinion of the general public. He adopts a certain line, and refuses to be diverted from that. But that it is far the best for the country no one can question," she continued.

At another point Mrs. Black said she did not believe in supporting the principle of Japanese boycott unless one were prepared to carry the principle through by enforcing it. And how could it be done when every week ships were leaving for the Orient with munitions of war? she argued.

Mr. McKelvie also spoke briefly. He declared that the closing down of the egg-laying contest at the Sidney Experimental Farm and its removal to Agassiz had resulted in a "virtual embargo" against Vancouver Island chickens going to Saskatchewan, and laid the blame at the door of Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture.

NOT SECESSIONIST

The Conservative candidate also urged the need of creation of some permanent industries that would give employment to the hundreds of young men and women annually graduating from school.

He denied that he was a secessionist, but thought that unless Vancouver Island could get fairer treatment, it would be wise for it to get control of its own revenues.

Hon. Grote Stirling spoke briefly about the proposed trade agreement with the United States, saying it would be foolish to sacrifice any of those preferences which Mr. Bennett had fought so hard to secure for Canada.

The rooms were effectively decorated with flowers for the occasion, cyclamen, snapdragon and palms being arranged on the platform and about the rooms.

A musical interlude was furnished by the Misses Honor and Margery Benson, who sang several solos and duets, accompanied at the piano by their mother, Mrs. J. H. D. Benson.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1937

Mingled good and evil portents are discerned in the horoscope for today, according to astrology. Women may be especially happy in their social contacts.

Courship among the young may be even more prevalent than usual under this configuration. College students will be especially susceptible.

Stage and screen plays will be popular today. There will be extraordinary interest in new dramas and unknown players. This is not an auspicious time for the signing of any sort of legal papers. It encourages the breaking of contracts and international pacts may be ignored with tragic results.

Trade and commerce may be stimulated by extraordinary world conditions. Warning is given by the stars that neutrality laws will be futile in preventing the spread of war.

Leaders will be needed in the new year for both civil and military organizations and young men will demonstrate their executive ability.

ORGANIZER OF HOME PASSES

Mrs. Laura Crouch of Mainland Institution Investigated By Province Dies

WEST SUMMERLAND (CP)—Mrs. Laura Crouch, organizer of the Home of the Friendless, whose activities in Winnipeg and British Columbia were subjected to government investigations, died Wednesday in the institution's premises here.

Mrs. Crouch, the daughter of a former state senator of Kansas, was 60 years old. She is survived by a son here and two brothers in Kansas.

A funeral service was arranged for today.

Death came to the white-haired head of the religious-charitable institution she founded less than two months after Commissioner H. I. Bird, appointed by the British Columbia government to investigate activities of the institution, had recommended in a report that occupants of the home be transferred to public institutions or rehabilitated in their respective communities.

At the same time the commissioner made his report Attorney-General Gordon Wismer notified Mrs. Crouch the institution's premises in Burnaby, near Vancouver, would have to be vacated.

Last month Mrs. Crouch and other officers of the home moved to West Summerland, at the southern end of Lake Okanagan.

DIED OF PNEUMONIA

Mrs. Crouch's death was attributed by Dr. F. Andrew to pneumonia.

CAME FROM WINNIPEG

Mrs. Crouch came to British Columbia in 1924 from Winnipeg, where the home was operated for several years. It was under investigation by Winnipeg authorities at the time it moved to the coast.

After receiving the Bird report the Attorney-General announced the Burnaby premises of the institution would be converted into a women's prison.

Mrs. Crouch was ill during the commission hearings in Burnaby and West Summerland last February, but attended one of the sittings in the latter place.

To be held through the kindness of Messrs. David Spencer Limited, in SPENCER'S BOYS' DEPARTMENT
Government Street, from
MONDAY, November 29, to SATURDAY, December 4

All work made by the blind of Victoria and all proceeds go directly to the blind workers

In larger centres a regular shop is maintained for the sale of Blindcraft, also in the larger centres there are properly-equipped workrooms for the blind but in Victoria the blind have to do all the work in their own homes. This is their only opportunity in the year for them to dispose of their work.

KNOCKING ON WOOD?

It is great to have a steady job... good health... a regular income! But even when the future looks rosy, most of us "knock on wood" to play safe. There is no need to "knock on wood" if you have a North American Life Retirement Income Policy. It guarantees you a steady income, to start when you want to quit work, and to last for life.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. What is wrong with the introduction "Mr. James, this is Miss Moore?"

2. Is "I want you to know" a less formal introduction than "May I present?"

3. May a person who has been introduced to another say "I'm happy to make your acquaintance?"

4. If you are introducing a young married woman and a much older unmarried woman whose name should be spoken first?

5. In introducing a woman and a Catholic priest is it correct to present her to him?

What would you do if—

Someone wants to introduce to you a person in whom you have no interest—

(a) Say, "I don't have the least desire to meet him?"

(b) Show the stranger by a disinterested acceptance of the introduction that you are not interested in him?

(c) Acknowledge the introduction graciously?

Answers

1. It is backwards. The man should be presented to the woman.

2. Yes.

3. No. "How do you do" is the correct way to acknowledge an introduction.

4. The older woman's.

5. Yes, that may be done.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—"c."

DEAR PROFESSOR GORDON:

Why did you advertise "KING GORDON FOR VICTORIA" only for one day on the street cars?

CURIOUS BILL.

ANSWER.

The C.C.F. Committee signed a contract for one week and expected the company to carry it out. Monday night the signs were removed without our knowledge and consent. Tuesday morning we received notice that on instruction from Montreal the contract was canceled.

In previous elections other parties have used street car advertising. There has been no change in the law. What influences, if any, caused this breach of contract and violation of British Fair Play we do not know.

Motorcycle Reliability Test On Sunday

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

VICTORIA'S rep rugby squad to battle with the mainland's best for the coveted McKechnie Cup this season will be named following a trial match Saturday afternoon. If other selections made by Coach Wally Brynjolfsson are as good as the picking of Ferguson, the Capital City should be a formidable foe in the forthcoming series.

In addition to having the right personality and head to handle such a job, despite his youth, Ferguson has plenty of that stuff known as "rugby sense," something that is bred in an athlete and can never be instilled by all the coaching in the world. Ferguson can be counted upon to turn in an equally fine performance anywhere in the field. As a three-quarters, and more particularly five-eighths, he is outstanding. Although not as fast as Ken Fleming, who capitalized to no mean extent on his change of pace in those psychological moments which make rugby interesting, Ferguson is no slouch in a spring. He can swerve with the best of them.

As a forward, the rep skipper would not doubt be equally capable, while his performance this season has left no doubt in the minds of local fans and officials as to who is the best fullback in the city.

Memories of bygone hockey days when such stars as Fred "Cyclone" Taylor, Frank Patrick, Moose Johnson, Si Griffis, Frank Fredrickson, Mickey McKay, Jack Walker, Bernie Morris, Frank Foyston and Cully Wilson skated to outstanding triumphs on the ice surfaces of Pacific Northwest arenas will be brought back on Friday night at the Vancouver Forum when all these old-timers turn out for a charity match.

Old Cyclone is responsible for the party and Frank Patrick is turning out to manage the club. The old boys will play two 15-minute periods against a group of amateurs. What great hockey machines of a few years back will be represented by that same group of has-beens. And what a team they would have made banded together in the heyday of their careers.

Commenting on the game, Jackie Patterson of the Vancouver Sun says: "Imagine Si Griffis and Ernie 'Moose' Johnson forming a defence team. Twenty years ago they would have played 60 minutes and kept the incoming forwards spinning all night. Si, with that little maroon scull cap covering, even then, a multitude of baldness. And the crouching Johnson poking away with what everybody knew was the longest stick in the business.

"And if Frank Patrick gets out there with Si it will be highly reminiscent of that winter of 1915 when the Vancouver Millionaires—on the Stanley Cup, defeating Ottawa. Si was captain and his running mate was Patrick, a stout defence that kept Hughie Lehman's work cut down to a minimum.

"That was the year Mickey McKay broke in with the Vancouver team. He was what Frank Patrick terms, 'the idol of the gods.' In the old coast league the top of the scoring read for five years or more, 'Taylor, McKay, Morris.' sometimes Bernie would beat Mickey out during the season, but the old 'Cyclone' was always a jump ahead.

"Morris, Walker and Foyston have been connected with hockey longer than most of the other old boys. Morris has refereed up until the last few seasons. Walker played for Seattle and managed the club not more than five years ago. Foyston is always in shape and will feel right at home on the blades.

"The years have probably not enhanced the physique of many of the old boys. There may be a few slack jowls and some creaky knees, but time has a habit of doing things like that. They'll freshen the memories of those ice worms who love to tell of the 'good old days.'

Grueling Course Will Test Record Field Of Riders

George Wellburn and Frank Baylis Will Defend Honors Won Last Year

Start at 1.30

Motorcyclists will be in for one of the toughest rides of their competitive careers on Sunday when they vie for honors in the annual fall reliability trial to be staged under the auspices of the Victoria Motorcycle Club. The organizing committee reports that entries to date indicate that a record field will ride in this event.

The recent heavy snowfall, coupled with the rains has aided the trial organizers in making the route as difficult as possible. They report plenty of water and mud on the logging roads of the Highland District, while some of the "cow trails" of the Saanich Peninsula, familiar to local riders by such names as "Agony Boulevard," "Crankcase Lane" and "Dingle Hollow" have developed into swampy areas.

The first rider will be checked off at 1.30 Sunday afternoon from the City Hall on the first leg of the 60-mile course. Riders will be checked at six points during the afternoon and the time of arrival will be marked on their cards at each point. Speeds at which each section must be ridden will vary according to traveling conditions. The winner will be the rider who comes closest to arriving at the checking stations at the right times.

Points will be deducted for early and late arrivals at the stations. No watches or speedometers are allowed.

OTHER CHECKS

At places where the ruts are deep or the going treacherous, checks will be stationed to observe the manner in which each rider masters the difficulties. Points will be deducted for using feet to keep from spilling, while a stall or spill will also result in a mark on the observers' cards. Many riders, as often is the case, keep close to the schedule but lose valuable points on spills in the observed sections.

A crew of 10 checkers will handle the trial under the direction of Bob Shank. The historic Brentwood Cup, which was up for competition here before the Great War, will be at stake and the winner will also receive a miniature which he will keep permanently. The rider who loses the least number of points in the "tough going" areas will be presented with a riding ability award.

The main trophy was won by George Wellburn last year and Frank Baylis won the ability award. Both will be on hand to defend their honors.

Hoop Games At Esquimalt Hall

The Esquimalt Athletic Association Hall, Fraser Street, will be the scene of three basketball games tonight.

Midget quintettes, coached by Neil Fraser and Curley Harbison, will meet in the opener, while Lake Hill Juniors of the Sunday School League and Esquimalt Juniors of the Saanich and District League are scheduled to clash in the second attraction.

The feature match of the evening will see the Esquimalt seniors and Kingham-Gillespie battle. Esquimalt seniors and the winning midget squad will travel to Sooke on Saturday.

VANCOUVER—Margaret McBurney, former member of Percy Page's Edmonton Grads, world champion basketball team, has signed with Spencer's quintette here, Dick Taylor, manager of the British Columbia Senior A women's champions, said Tuesday.

FARR TRAINS WITH WESTOB

British Heavyweight Helps Canadian Get Into Shape For Bout Monday

WINDSOR, Eng. — Tommy Farr returned to the ring yesterday—not as the star performer in a heavyweight title fight, but as a humble sparring partner for Eddie Westob, Edmonton heavyweight. Westob meets Roby Leibbrandt, champion of South Africa, here Monday.

Hearing the Canadian was having difficulty in getting capable sparring partners, Farr telephoned to offer his services. Westob fought a round of solid punching with the Welsh holder of the British Empire title. Tonyandy Tommy seemed in good shape and was eager to spar another round, but the Canadian's handlers decided to end the workout—for the day. Westob told Farr he would be glad of his help on another occasion.

Farr was impressed with the Canadian boxer's showing.

"Westob impressed me as a sound fighter, and I'm sure he'll do well," the Welshman said. The cowboy cloutier fought here several times in 1935, including two bouts with Farr. Although he earned a name for himself as a two-fisted puncher, the decision both times went to the Welshman.

HOTEL LOSES TO SPENCERS

Diamond S Club Beats Gorge Lads 6 to 2 in One-Sided Soccer Tilt

Playing in weather that was fit for ducks, Spencers took the measure of the Gorge Hotel eleven, 6 to 2, yesterday afternoon at the Athletic Park to advance into the second berth of the Hayward Cup race in the mid-week soccer circuit. The rain-soaked pitch proved unsure footing and the greasy ball was hard to control.

The Navy vs. Hudson's Bay game scheduled for Admirals Road was canceled owing to the unfit condition of the grounds. The Diamond S lads, playing a kick-and-run style—the best system under prevailing conditions—reaped their reward by firing at the goal at every opportunity, while the Hotelmen attempted to play football, which was out of the question, and as a result muffed a number of sure goal chances. Tumbling acts on the slippery surface provided humor for the small crowd.

Art Chapman, lanky pivot man, who contributed a trio of markers to Spencer's total, opened the scoring early in the game when he tallied on Collins' rebound from close quarters. Ten minutes later Bobby Brown raised the Diamond S score another notch. Taking Kirby Gent's (Turn to Page 18, Col. 4)

Hockey Race Keen In Coast League

Only Two Points Separate Four Clubs; Seattle and Spokane in Tie

SEATTLE—Seattle Sea Hawks and Spokane Clippers fought to a 3 to 3 overtime tie in a Coast League hockey game last night. It was the third tie of the season for the Hawks.

After Spokane tied the score by instituting four-man rushes in the third period, the teams put up a spectacular but scoreless 10-minute overtime period.

The tie game thrust Seattle, Spokane and Portland in a three-way deadlock for second place in league standings. All have five points, two behind Vancouver.

With both Holmes and Kenny on the bench because of penalties, Leswick finally batted in a pass from Moffatt in the first period.

Spokane evened it when Ripley counted on a rebound Venne had kicked out after a shot by King.

CLIPPERS AHEAD

The Clippers went into the lead for the first time in the game in the second period. King took a pass from Kenny and pocketed it from 15 feet out. Seattle defence combination of Field and Houbregs went down the ice shortly afterward, the former scoring on a pass from Houbregs after taking two cracks at the goal.

Leswick sent Seattle ahead near the end of the period when he took a double pass and also had two chances before beating Timmins.

In the final period King batted the puck behind Venne after a double pass and a mad scramble in front of the net, to cap a four-man attack.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Seattle, Leswick (Moffatt), 6.25; 2, Spokane, Ripley, 14.14. Penalties: Holmes (2, one for 10 minutes for misconduct), Kenny, Tabor.

Second period—3, Spokane, King (Kenny), 2.32; 4, Seattle, Field (Houbregs), 6.51; 5, Seattle, Leswick (Field, Moffatt), 18.33. Penalty: Kenny.

Third period—6, Spokane, King (Ripley, Arbour), 8.33. Penalty: Ripley.

Overtime—No score. Penalties: None.

LIBERTY CAFE HOOP VICTORS

Hand Navy 48 to 28 Defeat in Senior B Tilt; Fuelmen and Cardinals Win

Navy and Liberty Cafe hoop factions ended the first half of their battle on even terms but in the final session the Cafemen ran roughshod over their opponents to pull out with a 48 to 28 triumph. In the senior B men's tussle that headed last night's basketball card at the High School gym.

The sailors started out well and built up a 5 to 0 lead. Liberty Cafe, however, soon found the hoop and before long were riding neck and neck with the Navy squad on the scoreboard. For the remainder of the half the teams scored basket for basket and at the interval were deadlocked 16 to 16.

Led by Bill Wallis the league-leading cafe squad started to ring up baskets in earnest when the second half got started. Throughout this session they practically scored two points to the Navy's one and the final gong saw them 20 points ahead of the sailors.

Bill Wallis with 19 points was high scorer, while Bill Geddes tallied 18 points for the losers.

CLOSE STRUGGLE

The game that stole the spotlight was the Kingham-Gillespie vs. Wimpy's Crescents encounter. The younger and smaller Crescents gave the fuelmen a real battle before bowing to defeat in the last four minutes. The final score stood: Kingham-Gillespie 28, Crescents 24.

With four minutes of the game left the score was tied 24 to 24 and soon after Doug Geddes and another basket gave them a four-point margin at the final gong. Up to the last few minutes Wimpy's boys had never given up their lead.

Sonny Walker headed the winners' scoring brigade with 11 points and Beere had 10 for the losers.

Jack Taylor's Cardinals took Bob Whyte's Adverts into camp to the tune of 46 to 17 in the opening game of the evening. Virginia Hall piled up 14 points for Taylor's side, while A. Taylor topped the Adverts scorers.

Walter Stipe refereed.

The teams and scores follow: Cardinals—P. Whyte 4, R. Crosby 4, E. Elston 4, A. Peden 10, V. Hall 14, M. Well 4 and J. Trotter 6.

Adverts—D. Fuller, I. Mickelson, M. Harknett 4, R. Belcher, M. MacDonald 4, P. Graham, F. Kennedy 4, G. McAnerin, J. McDonald, D. Caley and A. Taylor 5.

Liberty Cafe—Wallis 19, Gies 8, Turner 6, Sharpe 6, Barbour 5, Wight 2, and Noakes 2.

Navy—Geddes 18, Day, Ross 2, Arnott 2, Dovey 4, Cosier and Foster 2.

Western League Will Expand; Bellingham Gets Franchise

TACOMA—Expansion of the Western International Baseball League to an eight-team circuit was predicted here yesterday following announcement Peter Mitchell, formerly an official of the Tacoma club, had been given a lease on a lighted ball park in Bellingham.

League secretary Nelson Hong said granting of a franchise to Mitchell would necessitate the expansion, since all six teams in the league this year are apparently ready to play again in 1938. Lewiston, which occupied

GREYHOUND TO SEEK RECORDS

World's Fastest Trotter Will Go After Additional Marks Next Year

NEW YORK—Greyhound, the world's fastest trotter, is not through breaking records, in the opinion of his veteran trainer, Sep Palin of Indianapolis.

The grey flash, which stepped a mile in 1.56 at Lexington this fall to shave three-fourths of a second off Peter Manning's 14-year-old world record, will be back next year attempting to lower the mark another notch.

"The only thing that will prevent him from racing next year will be failure to stand training," said Palin, here for the Old Glory auction sale opening today. "Right now he is as sound as they come. He's jogging every day at Indianapolis, but probably will spend part of the winter at Orlando, Fla."

"I honestly believe he can break 1.56," Palin added as he admitted the big gelding could have broken Peter Manning's record earlier in the season had he so desired. As it was he hung a new mark of 1.59 for a half-mile track, lowered the 1 1/4-mile time to 3.02 1/2 and equaled Peter Manning's record before traveling a mile in the fastest time ever made by a trotter.

RACE AGAINST TIME

Palin said he intended to race his ace in some stakes, although most of his starts probably will be against time. This year he was opposed by other horses in only one of his five starts.

Sep even ventured the opinion Greyhound could show jumpers and hunters a few things about taking fences.

"Why, the other day he found himself trailing a stablemate coming in from pasture and took a short cut. There was a six-foot fence in front of him but he took off like a finished jumper and cleared it with only a tick."

SCHALK IS MANAGER

CHICAGO—Ray Schalk of Chicago, former catching star of the American League, and one time manager of Chicago White Sox, signed a one-year contract last night as manager of the Indianapolis club of the American Association for 1938.

Leading Hockey Clubs Meet For First Time This Season; Chicago at Detroit

"Dr." Jack Adams, physician extraordinary in the past, got his old stethoscope out and prepared today to see just why his world champion Detroit Red Wings can't seem to tick in National Hockey League scrimmaging.

It's not going to be an easy diagnosis, for outward signs apparently show few ills besetting the Wings. But probing a little deeper, their record of one win and a draw in seven games attests to the fact something has to be remedied.

Just where and how, if at all, Adams intends to doctor things up remains to be seen. It's just possible, though, that once the veterans on the team start to shake the kinks from their systems Wings will really fly in the old fashion.

Wings will try and even matters with Chicago Black Hawks in a game tonight at Detroit. Hawks already have upset the champions once this year, 3 to 1, at Chicago. The night's other contest brings together Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers on New York ice.

MARCH LAID UP

To make things a little simpler for Wings in their attempt to regain their old form, the Chicago team will be without Mush March. The ace wingman pulled a muscle in practice yesterday and his loss for Hawks' next three away games means Bill Stewart must find someone to fill in along the front rank with Paul Thompson and Doc Romnes.

The other scheduled game carries interest because it is the first meeting between these two teams this season, and because it pits the league's highest scoring team—Maple Leafs—against a Ranger outfit that holds, with Boston Bruins, the record of being scored on least to date.

Leafs lost their deft touch around the goals in their last start, giving away to Montreal Maroons 2 to 1. In that game Maroons completely subdued the Gordie Drott-Syl-Appe-Harvey Jackson line, responsible for the major share of the 32 goals Leafs have scored in eight games. It's a question, though, whether anyone can shackle the trio twice in a row.

Rangers and Hawks are the only teams who possibly can be affected in the standings by the two games. Rangers hold down second spot in the United States section with seven points, one more than the third-place Hawks.

To Hold Parlor Show December 4

The Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association will hold a parlor show at the Crystal Garden on December 4. T. P. McConnell and W. C. Burns will act as judges. There will be group and cash prizes and special classes for children under 10 and 15 years of age. Further particulars will be announced later by secretary Mrs. Chris Bloomfield.

Varsity Cagers Increase Lead

VANCOUVER—Varsity moved farther into the lead of the senior A Inter-city Basketball League last night by defeating the bottom-ranking Staceys 34 to 30. At half-time Staceys had a 20 to 13 lead, but in the closing minutes Ran Matheson and Straight of Varsity revived an otherwise listless game with their combination plays and gave their team its victory.

Matheson collected 13 points and John Purves was high man for Staceys with 14 points.

Lessees Fight Further Taxes

Vancouver Resumes 17-year-old Fight to Tax Lessees of Crown Lands

W. B. Farris, K.C., appeared before the private bills committee of the Legislature yesterday to ask that a Royal Commission investigate the plea of Vancouver that the city be allowed to tax tenants of crown lands as though they were the owners.

Mr. Farris appeared for the property owners of Granville Island, who are opposed to the city's demand.

Mayor Miller of Vancouver said the time for negotiation was long past.

Mr. Farris said the City of Vancouver had committed a breach of faith in respect to Granville Island property owners. These owners, he said, had been ignored when a pact was signed between the city, the National Harbor Board and representatives of the grain trade. He said instructions of last year's private bills committee, that negotiations be carried out with Granville Island property owners had been ignored.

H. I. Bird appeared for the Jericho County Club. He said if Vancouver had its way the taxes on the club property would be increased from $600 to $16,000 a year, requiring, in turn, increase in club fees. He suggested an exception be made in the case of lands used for recreational purposes.

For 17 years Vancouver has been fighting for permission to tax the lessees of crown lands. Mr. Farris said rents on Granville Island were far too high, and as a result many of the properties were vacant.

Restrict Number Of Mine Claims

Prospectors to Be Limited to Three in One Mining District

A free miner will be limited to the staking of three claims in any one mining division under amendments to the British Columbia Mineral Act introduced yesterday in the Legislature by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines.

At present the holder of a free miner's license may stake as many claims as he wishes. In future he will be limited to three, or six when acting as an agent for two principals.

When he disposes of his claims he will be entitled to stake three more, but restaking of claims each year without assessment work will be curtailed. The regulations on assessment work will be stiffened and provision made for its examination.

Certain building stones and types of rock are excluded from the definition of mineral in the new bill.

TOY CAMPAIGN IS UNDER WAY

Scouts Start Annual Christmas Collections

The toy-gathering campaign of the boy scouts of Victoria and district opened yesterday when the doors of the toy shop at 1321 Government Street, were opened. Playthings of all descriptions will be accepted, repaired and then sent as Christmas presents to the needy children of the city and surrounding municipalities.

The spacious quarters have been loaned by T. S. McPherson and Walter Walker and Son have donated heating necessities.

The toy shop committee, remembering how generously the people of Victoria have helped in this community endeavor, request that those who have toys to donate will do so as soon as possible. If the larger volume of toys are sent in early, more and better work can be spent in repairing and repainting.

Toys may be delivered to the toy shop from 10 in the morning until 9 at night, or at the store, W. Ingles, 861 Fort Street. It is pointed out that it will help the scouts greatly if donors can deliver the toys, but those who do not find this possible are asked to phone G-7621 or E-1814. The toys will be collected by scouts.

Dolls, scooters, roller skates, tricycles, coasters, doll carriages, mechanical toys, wooden toys, toy soldiers, musical instruments and any other playthings will be gladly accepted by the toy shop committee.

Home Loans Now Near $12,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Loans granted under the Home Improvement plan amounted to $11,721,000 Nov. 20, Finance Minister Charles Dunning announced Wednesday. Of that total $1,554,000 were for farm improvements. Ontario led in total loans granted with 12,875 for $5,027,000. Quebec had 4,604 loans for $2,286,000. Alberta and British Columbia were both slightly over the $1,000,000 mark; Nova Scotia $779,000, Manitoba $757,000, New Brunswick $435,000, Saskatchewan $285,000 and Prince Edward Island $103,000.

SEEK ORDER OF APRIL '31

Two government departments have been searching high and low for an order-in-council that was passed on "April 31," 1910, it developed in the Legislature yesterday. The order was asked for in a motion by L. Shepherd, C.C.F., Delta, and authorized removal of the tolls from the old Fraser River bridge. Premier Pattullo told Mr. Shepherd the departments had been looking for it among the old records. Then it turned out that Mr. Shepherd's resolution called for an order passed on April 31. He hastily corrected it to read "the last day of April."

FINLAND FOR DEVELOPMENT

Conservative Member For Esquimalt Says It Should Be Done For Youth

Industry and enterprise were needed to develop the vast resources of the province, E. V. Finland, Conservative, Esquimalt, said in the Legislature yesterday. He closed the budget debate for the Opposition.

The natural resources, he said, would never be satisfactorily developed until conditions in the province were made such that money could and would feel safe to come into the country and invest in their development and so ensure a payroll for the British Columbia workers.

Mr. Finland dealt specifically with mining, agriculture, timber and fisheries. He said the government should make every effort to give leadership and guidance in the development of the mining industry.

"Instead of this we find the mining industry has been severely harassed and hampered," he said, referring to the Company's Act, the Mineral Surveys Act and the Criminal Code, which, "if they had been administered as they should have been by the officials in charge, there would have been no scandals and no trouble."

Scandals, however, did arise and the poor, unsuspecting public thought it was protected, as it had a right to think.

The agriculture policy, he said, seemed to have been of a disciplinary or draconian nature, far beyond what was necessary or helpful to the industry, particularly in the Marketing Act.

"In the timber industry," Mr. Finland said, "many by-products might be made and utilized which would increase our output, provincial revenue and employment. The government should furnish the forestry department with the necessary funds and the technical staff, whose duty and business it should be to solve these problems in the interest of the public, particularly in the interest of our young people, for whom, at present, the future holds small promise, and to whom the government owes a duty to remove the spectre of unemployment and replace it with opportunity and security."

WOULD SHIFT THREE COSTS

Forrester Suggests Government Services Take Over Municipal

Proposal that the provincial government should take over the cost of social services, schools and hospitals in municipalities was made in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday by J. Howard Forrester, Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard.

Vancouver's financial straits, he said, were not due to mismanagement, but because real estate was bearing 85 per cent of the cost of city administration. "There is no doubt," he continued, "that real estate should stand the cost of police, fire protection, construction and maintenance of roads, water and sewage systems and development of parks, but certainly not the cost of social services, hospitals and education."

He showed that these three services cost Vancouver this year $3,377,000, or 25 per cent of the city's whole budget.

He maintained that the income tax was the fair place to put the cost of such services, because it was graduated according to ability to pay. Vancouver, he said, paid 60 per cent of the Dominion income tax collected in British Columbia.

Mr. Forrester reviewed the government's fight for better terms at Ottawa and urged that grants be given for the B.C. Chamber of Mines and the Loughheed Highway.

Transvaal gold miners set an all-time record in July, 1937, by producing more than 996,500 ounces of fine gold, outdistancing their previous record by 17,000 ounces.

NEW POLICY IN CAR SALES

Hillman Distributors Hope Prices Will Be Kept Down By Change

A new sales policy intended to counteract rising prices through larger volume of business is announced by Ben Grossman of Jameson Motors Limited, British Columbia distributors for Hillman cars.

Mr. Grossman explained the new policy today as follows:

"During the last year or so the price of car materials has been going up. The cost of manufacture has increased to such a degree that we have found ourselves confronted with this problem: Should we raise the standard prices of our British cars or endeavor to increase our volume of sales and keep the price the same, including the 20 new dominant features over and above our 1937 models, which greatly improve the 1938 cars. Our cost for merchandising cars has been steadily going up."

"Taking both the manufacture and selling cost increase makes a dual problem. After many months of careful thought we have come to the conclusion that there is a third way—a way in which we can maintain the lower price. This means more cars, to put it in plain figures. If, for example, where we previously sold 200 cars we can this year sell 250 cars we shall be glad to carry out our plans. This, together with the increased volume in the sale of Hillman Minx cars throughout British Columbia, enables us to give the public lower prices."

"When a straightforward deal is offered to the Canadian public in plain terms, they respond, and we are confident they will give us the support we ask for now. It is with this faith behind us that we have framed our policy for this coming year. This is the reason of the lower prices."

Moves Against Many Motions

Premier Clashes With C.C.F. Over Rules on Resolutions

With C.C.F.-sponsored resolutions piled high on the order paper of the British Columbia Legislature, Premier Pattullo moved yesterday to strike a number of them off as out of order.

This drew protests from the C.C.F. members, who said they were unable to advise the government through resolutions, they might as well stay home from the session.

The Premier was sarcastic about Dr. J. Lyle Telford's resolution asking for a committee to consider ways of letting members know before the session what legislation would come up. "So we're going to have Soviet committees on everything. The authority of the government would be gone under this. The Lieutenant-Governor could not send a message bill to the House," he declared.

The Premier said Dr. Telford's resolution for an investigation of the operation of the Marketing Act was out of order as it dictated policy and reflected on what the House had done.

He claimed a motion by E. E. Winch to extend silicosis compensation to other industries besides mining was out of order because the Workmen's Compensation Board already had the power.

Another by Harold Winch calling for a five-day week, six-hour day, he claimed affected Crown revenues and dictated government policy.

When he said Dr. Telford's motion to ban liquor advertising was out of order and that Dr. Telford should have gone about it by submitting an amendment to a statute, the Opposition waxed wroth.

"What's the use," said Harold Winch. "It is only by motions of this kind we can help the government. If they're going to be ruled out of order the Premier might just as well mail us our cheques and let us stay home. All these resolutions are simply to advise the government, not dictating anything. Surely under democracy we have the right to do this."

The Premier retorted that if the House attempted to debate all of the motions, it would be sitting continually and would never get home.

"I never saw so many resolutions on the order paper before," he said. "A great many are out of order. I have not objected before because this is a new House and the government does not want to thwart discussion of these topics. But we're getting to the point where they'll kill the goose that lays the golden egg."

FUNERAL SHIP AT PLYMOUTH

Body of Ramsay MacDonald Taken Ashore in Britain For Burial

PLYMOUTH, Eng. (AP)—The British cruiser Apollo, bearing the body of former Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, arrived here today from Bermuda.

Mr. MacDonald died November 9 on the steamship Reina del Pacifico while en route to South America. Shortly after the arrival of the cruiser all flags in the city and aboard ships in the harbor were lowered to half mast.

The late statesman's son, Dominions Secretary Malcolm MacDonald, was among the first to go aboard the Apollo.

Burial will take place at Lossiemouth, Scotland, where he was born.

SUN COMES OUT

Brilliant sunshine drove away the thick morning mist as the Apollo left its anchorage and moved slowly toward the Devonport docks.

The coffin, covered with a Union Jack, was on the quarter-deck of the cruiser, a naval pilot and a royal marine standing with bowed heads and inverted rifles on either side. An honor guard of Royal Marines also was on the quarterdeck.

Nearby, Malcolm MacDonald stood with his sisters, Isabel and Joan.

In the presence of the lord mayor of Plymouth and the commander-in-chief of the Plymouth naval station, Admiral Sir Reginald Plunkett-Erle-Drax, and other officers, the coffin was carried by eight sailors to the special train in which it was taken to London.

A note on feminine beauty, 1937: Women in other lands spent over half a million dollars in the past year for lipsticks made in America.

ARRESTS MADE IN BUS STRIKE

Fist Fights Today in Cleveland, Ohio: Drivers Quit in 16 States

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A strike of union bus drivers, marked by fist fights and four arrests here, spread today over a vast network of Greyhound bus lines in 16 states, as last-minute peace moves by Labor Department conciliators met with failure.

Violence broke out at the Greyhound terminal here when, police said, a striker threw himself in front of a bus just as it pulled out of the dock and defied the driver to run over him.

Company officials announced temporary abandonment of the trip, and the passengers were unloaded. Police said the man would be held for investigation.

Three other arrests followed a few minutes later when an attempt was made to stop a heavily-loaded Pittsburgh bus. Fists flew as police cleared a path and the bus roared east with an escort of police cruisers.

Officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who called the strike at 12:01 a.m. after a breakdown in negotiations for a new contract, estimated 1,300 drivers affected. Company officials placed the number at 1,000. The union demands a "closed shop."

Death Toll In Jamaica Grows

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP)—Island residents expressed new fears for the safety of outlying communities today as swollen Jamaican rivers continued to rise slowly. The floods' death toll was believed to have reached 70, and the damage hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Only meagre reports of the conditions reached the colony's capital as transportation and communication lines were washed away by raging waters.

Nehru Sees Much Unrest in India

BOMBAY (CP)—Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the National All-India Congress Party, told 5,000 students of Allahabad University that India is on the brink of revolution.

He asserted villagers were "marvelously organized" but nationwide discipline was needed to face a crisis which would not necessarily be caused by foreign invasion.

Motor Car Plants To Be Reopened

DETROIT (AP)—The first of nearly 15,000 General Motors workers at Pontiac who were made idle by a strike will return to work tomorrow.

E. R. Leeder, manager of the Fisher Body plant at Pontiac, which was held by sit-down strikers five days, announced some departments would resume operations tomorrow and the full force would be back on duty Monday.

R. Lewis, Actor, Critically Injured

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (AP)—Ralph Lewis, 65, who played in the early film classic, "The Birth of a Nation," was critically injured today in an automobile collision.

The veteran actor suffered compound fractures of both legs, a crushing of the chest, dislocation of one hip and rib fractures. Hospital attendants said he was expected to recover.

The driver of the other automobile, Abdul Majlan, valet to Producer Jack Warner, was not seriously hurt.

Thomas Ryan Of Winnipeg Dies

WINNIPEG (CP)—Thomas Ryan, 89, pioneer Winnipeg retired shoe retailer and mayor of the city in 1889, died here Wednesday.

Canton Train Is Wrecked By Bomb

Hongkong (AP)—Six Japanese planes bombed the Canton-Kowloon Railway today in an attempt to destroy four bridges.

Chinese said a passenger train was struck by a bomb, with heavy civilian loss of life.

Wheat Prices Drop To Seasonal Lows At Toronto

WINNIPEG (CP)—Bearish reports of Argentine crop conditions and weakness at Liverpool induced general selling on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today to send all grain futures skidding. New seasonal lows were established in a few positions with wheat futures closing 3 1/2 to 2 1/2 lower, November at $1.09 1/2, December $1.07 1/2, May $1.07 1/2 and July $1.03 1/2.

Prices dropped nearly 3 cents in the first hour on sales by local, eastern and seaboard firms. Trading was light in view of the United States holiday. November and December dropped more than 4 cents near the close.

Export sales of Canadian wheat were confined to odd lots. Cash prices dipped sharply due to heavier offerings and lull in demand.

November wheat and all the flat futures established new lows for the year.

Excellent quality of first returns of new crop wheat in northern Argentina, forecasts of clear weather and sharply lower Buenos Aires quotations were principal market factors.

Buenos Aires at noon was 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 cents lower, a decline of 5 to 4 cents since the market opened yesterday. Liverpool closed 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 lower. Mill demand was light.

Cable reports stated most Argentine crop estimates were below 200,000,000 bushels for the new crop, a reduction of 47,000,000 bushels from last year's production. The Argentine export surplus is expected to range between 81,000,000 and 110,000,000 bushels.

No. 1 northern cash wheat slumped 3 cents early but rallied a cent near the close to 15 cents above the November future. No. 2 near the close was 10 cents above November future.

Flax and rye futures were 3 cents lower but export buying steadied barley. Oats eased 2 to 1 cent near the close.

More About the Paris Exposition

Close to the base of Eiffel Tower is the Pavilion of Canada. The front of it has the form of a grain warehouse, and this is a symbol of the great part that it plays in the life and work of Canada. There are also displays of Canadian arts and crafts, including wool-spinning in the old Quebec fashion.

Peace monument at Paris exposition.

While going through this exhibit, I bought a salmon sandwich for a small sum. The bread was made from Canadian wheat, and the salmon came from British Columbia. The sandwich was a very good one!

An interesting thing in the United States building is a ski exhibit. Toy men, each several inches high, ski down the side of a snow-clad hill, then go out of sight a little while before making the same slide again.

The United States building has a tower 131 feet high. Besides models of machines of different kinds, and examples of American products, there is a fine display of postage stamps—which reminds us of President Roosevelt's interest in stamp collecting. There is also a display of American money. I saw two $10,000 bills. They were behind glass, but I came close to them as I am likely ever to come to a bill of that size.

By the time you read these words, it will be just about closing time for the Paris exposition, but the fair will leave a memory behind it. Some will remember the Palace of Light, others the housing displays, or the Palace of Discovery. I plan to tell about the Palace of Discovery on the coming Saturday.

One object of interest is the Monument of Peace. This is a column 17 feet in diameter and 164 feet high. On its green bronze casing are written in golden letters the names of men and women who have worked for the cause of peace. Near the column are the flags of 42 nations which have taken part in the exposition.

The Monument to Peace was set up on a continent which has seemed very close to war. In England, as in France, the people are fearful of what war would mean. Millions of gas masks have been made, and there are hundreds of bomb-proof cellars where people can hide if airplanes bomb their cities.

The League of Nations was expected to keep the world at peace. So far, it has not succeeded very well. Many people in Europe say, "The League of Nations would have a real success if the United States had joined it." Another belief is that the best way to keep peace in Europe would be to tear down the tariff walls between the nations.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—When I am in a hospital and see so many ill and so many crippled in wheel chairs, I think: Is the whole world sick? When I see so many bad teeth I think: Is every one's dental work out of repair? When I hear of so many divorces and see so much unhappiness in married life I think: Is marriage a failure? Now what I am driving at is this: The surgeon sees mostly sick people, but there are well ones. The dentist sees mostly mouths that need repair, but there are healthy ones. We hear of the unhappy marriages, but there are millions of happy marriages of which we never hear. I know. I've tried it. I have been married 30 years and have had a lovely married life. My wife and I are still sweethearts and enjoy each other's company more than any other. So tell the young people that there ARE happy homes. All husbands are NOT philanderers. All wives are NOT naggers. If they will try, they CAN have a happy married life, and it is so much worth while.

Answer: In these days when the world is filled with the crash of wrecked homes, it is good to get a letter of cheer like this one that reminds us that, all reports to the contrary, marriage is not a failure, that there are husbands and wives who love and that there are happy homes.

We are shocked when we hear that one marriage out of every six ends in divorce, but even those appalling figures show that five-sixths of marriages turn out at least satisfactorily, and that is by far a larger per cent of successes than any other undertaking shows. Many men and women fail in marriage, but they fail also as lawyers and doctors and merchants and farmers.

There is nothing the matter with marriage any more than there is with the grocery trade, or banking, or the beauty industry. In all of them some are happy, some miserable. Some make fortunes, some go bankrupt. The results always depend upon the man or woman who went into the enterprise and how much intelligence and patience and industry and energy he or she was willing to put into the job.

Those marriages are happy when the husband and wife love each other; when they are willing to make cheerfully the sacrifices that domestic life inevitably entails; when they are willing to do teamwork and when they are willing to put all that they have of head and heart into making their marriage a success.

And those marriages are a failure when the husbands and wives are selfish and each is determined to rule the roost; when they are not willing to settle down and find their interest and entertainment in their own home.

When they still want to be playboys and playgirls and have their little affairs on the side; when the man resents having to spend his money on the upkeep of a family instead of on his own pleasures; when the woman is peevish and fretful because she can't have as many fine clothes as some rich woman has, marriage takes a nose-dive.

Marriage is what you make it. You get out of it what you put into it, and every young couple can make a success of their marriage if they are willing to pay the price.

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think a girl of 15 can really love? I think I am in love with a boy, but don't know. DOT.

Answer: Give yourself the benefit of the doubt, Dot. No girl of 15 can really love because she is still a child with a child's passing fancies. Real love is for grown-ups, not for babes.

Soviet Adds To Defence Staff

MOSCOW (AP)—Appointment of a new vice-commissar of defence and creation of an economic council were announced Wednesday. The announcement came simultaneously with a speech by Michael Kalinin, president of the All Russia Central Executive Committee, in which he emphasized the need of efficiency in wartime.

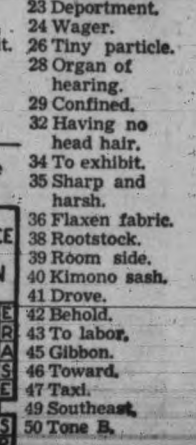

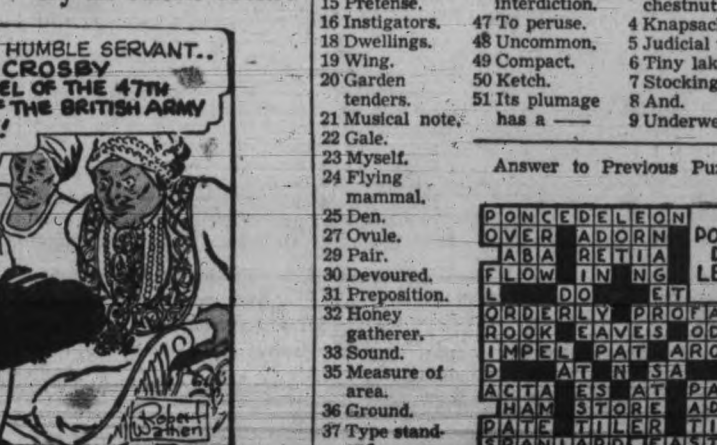

E. A. Schadenko, former chief political commissar at the Kiev army headquarters, was appointed vice-commissar of defence.

C. C. F. Young to Advise
Empress of Britain Tourists
in Australia

Calls at Sydney and Melbourne in Australia and Wellington and Auckland in New Zealand by Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Britain on her world cruise this winter are expected to do much to attract Australian and New Zealand traffic to Victoria, Vancouver and the Canadian route to the United Kingdom.

For the first time the 22,500-ton world cruiser will include the Antipodes in her world cruise, substituting the "down under" ports for Japanese ports and the innovation will be of advantage to Canada, in the opinion of C. C. F. Young, of the passenger department, Canadian Pacific, London, who sailed by the Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara last night for Sydney.

In Australia the London passenger man will assist in arranging passage to San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York or Southampton for the second half of the liner's cruise.

The Empress of Britain is due in Hongkong from New York by way of Suez, March 9, to sail March 14 for Manila, Batavia, Bali, thence to Sydney, where she arrives April 2. A call will be made at Melbourne April 6; at Wellington, New Zealand, April 10; at Auckland, April 12. From Auckland the liner proceeds to Suva and Honolulu, thence to San Francisco to arrive April 24, thence to Los Angeles and by the Panama Canal to New York.

Passengers from Australia and New Zealand will have their choice of taking the Empress of Britain all the way to Southampton, or to San Francisco or Los Angeles, or to New York.

Another alternative is passage to San Francisco or Los Angeles and cross-country tour through the United States to rejoin the Empress at New York.

"The Empress of Britain has been called Canada's ambassador of goodwill, and she is known all over the world as a Canadian ship," Mr. Young said. Her calls at Australian and New Zealand ports cannot help but attract attention to Canada and the Canadian route between the Antipodes and the United Kingdom. We expect many Australians and New Zealanders will take the opportunity to join her for a trip to the United States or England. Many of them, no doubt, will return through Victoria, Vancouver and the Canadian-Australasian service to Australia and New Zealand."

NEW ORIENT LINE IS PLAN

Seattle Port Commission Out to Protect Shipping Interests

SEATTLE—The Port of Seattle Commission will enlist Seattle capital for the establishment of a new steamship line to the Orient, if the American Mail Line does not restore all its vessels soon, Port President Smith M. Wilson said here.

John Cormode, vice-president of the American Mail Line, said, however, that the vessels will be given added fire protection and restored to service as passenger ships. He said he does not know how soon this can be done.

"If the American Mail Line is going to fix up the ships, that ends it," said Wilson, "but if the company is going to string along for six months or a year, then we'll go ahead and organize a locally-owned line to protect our shipping interests."

Wilson received a telegram from Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach in which the senator said he interviewed a member of the Maritime Commission and was told the commission had heard no report of any plan to curtail American Mail Line service, and that the commission could not prevent such curtailment, anyhow. Schwellenbach urged the port commission to go ahead with plans for a new line.

Ship Built Here Clipper Tender

Out of the romantic past of the sea into the progressive present sails this stout four-master Trade Wind, refitted as supply ship for the fleet Clipper ships of the Pacific commercial airlines. Rescued from oblivion of a harbor anchorage by Pan American Airways, the old sailing ship will be put into service as tender for Clipper bases on the Honolulu-Manila route and projected New Zealand line. The Trade Wind was formerly the Margaret F. Sterling and was built at the Vancouver by the Chalmers shipyards at Victoria in 1913.

Alaska Services Out of Seattle to Be Resumed This Week

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Alaska operators announce a settlement of the dispute between the three lines serving the territory and the Marine Cooks and Stewards' Union, with the men returning to work under former conditions of employment, ending a six-day tieup of Alaska shipping.

The Northland Transportation Company said the steamship North Sea would sail for the north Friday and the Alaska Steamship Company announced the Yukon would sail Saturday.

The union withdrew its demands for the rotation of cooks, stewards and waiters in vessels plying north to the territory, the operators said.

Max Watson, business agent, said the settlement was "tentative," pending approval by the crew of the Yukon.

The union members on the North Sea walked off ship last Thursday and members of the Alaska did the same before sailing time last Saturday.

HOTEL LOSES TO SPENCERS

cross, Tommy Belford beat goalie Norm Stewardson with a hard shot to give the Gorge their opening goal. Art Chapman got two more goals for Spencers before the breather and Art Carr rang up another for the Hotel to make the score stand 4 to 2 at the half-way point.

SECOND HALF

Spencers boosted their score to five goals about 15 minutes after the resumption of play, when W. Sadler, Gorge fullback, drove the ball into his own goal and the scoring was brought to a finish late in the game by Daryl Bissell. Goalie Stewardson, with the aid of Dal-Munro, managed to keep the Hotelmen from notching more than two goals, while Charlie Sadler, in the Gorge goal, in spite of the fact he let six attempts past him, made some five saves.

Carrying a total of 350 passengers for New Zealand and Australia via Honolulu and Suva, Fiji Islands, R.M.S. Niagara, Capt. A. T. Totten, put to sea from Pier 2, Rithet Docks, at 9:15 last night.

Prominent among the saloon passengers were Sir Hugh and Lady Acland of Christchurch, New Zealand; Edwin Taylor, C.M.G., former Colonial Secretary at Hongkong, and Mrs. Taylor, en route to Auckland; Capt. W. Dunstan, V.C., general manager of The Melbourne Herald, and Mrs. Dunstan; Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Harris, Squadron Leader H. B. Seekamp, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Borg; Col. N. S. Falla, managing director of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, and Mrs. Falla, and A. J. Armstrong, who will disembark at Suva to proceed to an outlying island of the Fiji group, where he is district magistrate.

Passengers embarking on the Niagara here were C. E. Parkinson, engineer in charge of irrigation at Brisbane, Queensland; Mrs. C. Hamilton, who has been visiting Dr. and Mrs. W. E. M. Mitchell here, returning to Fairlie, New Zealand; Miss I. Armstrong, London; V. R. Midgley, returning to New Zealand; Mrs. E. Allan, bound to Australia; Miss M. D. Aitken, Chicago, going to Auckland; Mrs. E. R. Barnes, for Auckland; Mrs. H. C. Fessenden, from London for Australia; Mr. and Mrs. Adcock, London for Sydney; G. S. The C.P.R. offered special inclusive rates for the American holiday and there was a good response on the part of the Seattle public. The U.S. visitors will return by Ss. Princess Marguerite at 4:30 to Seattle.

CORRIENTES COMING
Ss. Corrientes, which was in collision and seriously damaged since she was last on this coast, will be the next vessel of the Donaldson Line to reach Victoria, being expected here December 19.

With her side stove in as the result of collision at the mouth of the Thames, the Corrientes was taking so much water that she had to be beached.

She was repaired this summer and left Glasgow November 8 for North Pacific ports via Panama.

CHRISTMAS RUSH

Anticipating a heavy rush of Christmas travel across the gulf, the B.C. coast service of the Canadian Pacific Railway will operate two night boats from Vancouver to Victoria on Christmas Eve.

The Niagara's list also included a group of employees of the Colonial Sugar Refinery, who will spend the Christmas holidays in New Zealand and Australia.

British Warship Damages Fixed

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons Wednesday, Spanish insurgent authorities would be held responsible for the damage suffered by the British destroyer Hunter when it struck a mine off Almeria last May 13.

He added Sir Henry Chilton, British ambassador to Spain, had been instructed to inform the insurgent authorities of the government's decision.

Ownership of the mine, which struck the Hunter while it was on nonintervention naval patrol duty, killing eight members of the crew and wounding 14, was disclaimed by both parties to the civil war.

Material damage caused by the explosion was calculated at £124,000 ($620,000). Mr. Eden said, adding that the government would ask an additional £10,500 ($52,500) to indemnify the families of the sailors killed and wounded in the blast.

A British museum recently acquired the unusual "antiquity" of a pack of playing cards, dating from about 1800, which has never been unwrapped or used.

Around the Docks

SEDGEPOOL LOADING

Slings of lumber started to go over side of Ss. Sedgepool at Ogden Point assembly plant first thing this morning. The freighter came alongside at 6:30 last night. After taking on 500,000 feet here she is scheduled to clear tonight for the United Kingdom.

Ss. Hylton completed loading at Ogden Point about noon today and proceeded to Port Alberni to complete for Australia.

NIAGARA FELT BLOW

The strong southeasterly blow further delayed R.M.S. Niagara in docking here yesterday evening from Vancouver on her outbound voyage to Australasia.

The big ship caught the full force of the wind off Ten Mile Point, but it eased down as she entered the harbor and a nice landing was made at Pier 2, Rithet Docks, about 7:30. Late arrival of mails had delayed the Niagara at Vancouver.

Stowed below decks was 3,800 tons of general cargo including large shipments of British Columbia apples and canned salmon.

Capt. A. T. Totten took his ship out to sea at 9:15.

EXTRA CARRIER FIXED

The Knutsen Line announces an extra carrier, Ms. Bibran, for December loading at B.C. and North Pacific ports for the United Kingdom.

She is a fully refrigerated motorship and will lift a large consignment of B.C. apples for delivery at London, Liverpool and Glasgow.

Ms. Martin Bakke, on the regular Pacific Coast-U.K. service, is scheduled to reach Vancouver via Victoria December 4, and will load for Glasgow, Liverpool, Manchester and Belfast.

TWO JAPAN FIXTURES

Fixture of Ss. Tohsei Maru to load B.C. cargo December 5 for Japanese ports is announced by Yamashita Shipping Company Limited, agents for Y.K.K. This is the second vessel in this service named for early December loading. Ss. Bordeaux Maru is due December 2. Both ships will load for Yokohama, Kobe and Osaka.

U.S. VISITORS HERE

When Ss. Princess Kathleen reached port at 1:15 this afternoon from Seattle she carried about 250 Americans who are spending their Thanksgiving holiday in Victoria.

This group was in addition to regular travel on the triangle route.

The C.P.R. offered special inclusive rates for the American holiday and there was a good response on the part of the Seattle public. The U.S. visitors will return by Ss. Princess Marguerite at 4:30 to Seattle.

TRADE POLICIES

The by-election, he said, had been thrown into national prominence as an index of public reaction to the Liberal administration, particularly in the trade policies.

While not aware of proposed changes for the Ottawa pacts, he thought it inconceivable that Premier King would sell out Canada.

He declared his first responsibility, if elected, would be to Victoria, then to British Columbia, Canada, and the Empire. He would go to Ottawa, he said, as independent as it was possible to be and would weigh issues in the light of his business experience.

R. W. Fairclough, C. J. McDowell, W. T. Straith, and A. H. Corby spoke in support of Mr. Mayhew and the Liberal administration.

The total pack on November 18, 1937, the last cycle year, was 1,247,471 cases.

Following are this season's totals of each type with last year's figures in brackets: Sockeye, 321,605 (409,321); spring, 15,491 (28,810); steelheads, 751 (1,004); bluebacks, 19,218 (33,627); cohoes, 113,135 (208,730); pinks, 573,835 (584,705); chums, 446,344 (581,864).

MAYHEW GIVES UNION STAND

Favors Voluntary Labor Organization, He Tells Ward 2 Liberals

Approval of labor unions in which membership was voluntary and in which no coercion was used, was voiced by R. W. Mayhew, Liberal by-election candidate, in an address to Ward 2 Liberals at George Jay School last night.

"If I were a working man on my own staff, I would want to get my fellow workmen together into a union for the betterment of all," he stated. He saw only one trouble with unions. There was an opportunity in them for leaders to centralize power which might be used in methods not in the best interests of everyone concerned, Mr. Mayhew said.

He would like, he said, to see all unions in the country, Canadian unions. In his own plant he had laid down but one stipulation regarding labor organization—that membership should be entirely voluntary on the part of all the men, and that no coercion should be used.

HOUSING

Mr. Mayhew expressed deep interest in the housing question and the improvements that had been wrought through the government home loan plan. There was still room for further work, he stated, declaring in all parts of Canada slum districts existed which should be cleared away. He referred to certain blocks in Victoria, which, he said, should be removed to make room for park purposes and playgrounds. If such a policy were pursued, Mr. Mayhew thought the city would lose little if anything in revenue, since the value of adjoining property would be so enhanced higher tax collections could be secured.

At some length Mr. Mayhew stressed the necessity for unity in Canada. He referred to the proposed changes suggested for the British North America Act and speculated on the possible development of sectional schisms which would be to the detriment of the nation. Briefly he touched on the racial and language differences, noting two of his grandparents had spoken better French than English and that as a descendant, he had some understanding of the French-Canadian outlook.

He called for the elimination of religious bigotry, stating Canada would do well to pay more attention to religion but not to sectarian feuds.

Mr. Mayhew expressed regret over the number of political parties in the field. The result of the by-election, he said, might hinge on a majority of 50. Such a majority might be insufficient to make any great impression on Ottawa.

There were over 50 per cent of the people of British Columbia not getting adequate medical services, he said. There were more widows than a few years ago, he replied, in the province, and as a result the mothers' pensions' estimates had been increased.

Health, he said, was the first objective of education and both were closely related.

Bridge Collapse Is Investigated

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway has ordered an investigation into the bridge collapse near here which claimed the lives of two railway men and sent two others to hospital.

Auxiliary crews working on the bridge, nine miles west of this Millikamen town, recovered the body of John Collins, 59-year-old bridge worker. They still sought trace of W. E. Moore, 46, brakeman, carried to his death when the engine and one boxcar of a 16-car freight train plunged from the trestle into the Tulameen River.

Arthur Miller, 46, engineer, and Percival Coulter, 32, were rescued and are expected to recover.

Will Not Give Up Struggle or Break Faith With People, He Tells Legislature

Dr. G. M. Weir, "father of health insurance," made the second fighting defence of the session of the Health Insurance Act and again pressed his hope the medical profession and the government would be able to agree on a satisfactory solution, when he spoke in the Legislature yesterday.

The doctors of the province could not permanently thwart the public interest, Dr. Weir said. In recent months there had been many friendly conferences with the doctors and he hoped for more, aiming at a satisfactory conclusion.

"We are not going to give up the struggle or break faith with the people," he said. "We are maintaining the health insurance commission."

There had not been time, he repeated, since July 1 to make satisfactory amendments to the present act.

"This bill was checked by the best sociologists and medical economists in the country," Dr. Weir said, "and they all said it was a good bill. True, it contains a number of compromises I did not like, but it is a beginning. We had the best actuaries and statisticians see this bill, and I challenge anyone in this House to give me the name of an actuary who will say the bill is actually unsound."

WHY INDIGENTS OUT

"We have been criticized because the bill did not take in indigents. There is not a health insurance bill in the world that takes in indigents. I tried to get them in and the actuaries said you must leave them out. As far as indigents are concerned, many medical men perform a great humanitarian and a splendid self-sacrificing service."

He said he had nearly lost his "political skin" in the last provincial election, but added, "I would rather be defeated with health insurance than be elected without it."

The control and administration of health insurance must be provincial, he said. Like education, it could not be federal and the control carried on by a huge bureaucracy in Ottawa. An amendment to the British North America Act would first be necessary.

Education and health, Dr. Weir said, were a debt that maturity owed to youth, defending his estimates for education. Public buildings and roads could be delayed, but people were only young once and the education of youth could not be delayed.

"You are never going to build up a future generation if you starve the present generation," he said. "We can't disregard the generation now here."

"There is no more sacred obligation facing us than our obligation to our underprivileged, our widows and our orphans."

"Our social services are practical and they are also economic. Preventive measures are necessary for the extinction and prevention of disease."

There were over 50 per cent of the people of British Columbia not getting adequate medical services, he said. There were more widows than a few years ago, he replied, in the province, and as a result the mothers' pensions' estimates had been increased.
